'Tense' Atmosphere Prevails at Napanoch

By MATT SPIRENG

NAPANOCH

The State Commission of Correction has tried to "suppress" a special report on conditions at Eastern Correctional Facility in Napanoch which told of "deep seated problems" and an "extremely tense" atmosphere at the prison, according to a former member of that commission.

The report states that during conversations with officers and inmates at the correctional facility "it was determined that the atmosphere was extremely tense and that an incident of almost any proportion could cause an explosive situation."

According to the report, which was submitted by a correction specialist and a senior inspector, an incident at the prison occurred during July in the outdoor recreation yard in which upwards of 150 inmates rushed a locked gate which lead to buildings containing ladders, bolt cutters, steel pipes and bars, and materials which could be utilized in the manufacture of smoke and fire bombs. The inmates were stopped when an officer in a guard tower placed a round of ammunition in his rifle, according to the report.

A copy of the typed special report which is marked "confidential" by hand, and which is dated Aug. 13, 1973, was provided to the Freeman by Burton Schoenbach, a New York City businessman who resides in New York and Phoenicia, and who was a member of the commission until Sept. 1.

Among reasons for problems at Napanoch, the report states that inmates at Napanoch felt they had been "betrayed by the administration in other state facilities in that they were induced to apply for transfers' to Napanoch, expecting to enter training programs there. "The lack of a meaningful program is of paramount importance and a source of discontent throughout the inmate population," the report states.

Special

Administrative and personnel problems also existed at Napanoch according to the report.

Schoenbach told the Freeman that his main concern with Napanoch, and with other correctional facilities throughout the state, is that the "taxpayers' money is being wasted." He said meaningful programs such as are needed at Napanoch might help keep men who have been in prison from committing more crimes when they are released.

The report recommends that transfers to Napanoch be held in abeyance "pending stabilization of the present unsatisfactory situation." It is noted in the report that the present inmates housed at Eastern Correctional Facility are "totally different" from those previously housed there. In the past "male defective delinquents of borderline intelligence" and men serving short sentences were kept at Napanoch, but since earlier this year the prison population has changed to "more sophisticated types who are serving longer sentences."

According to the report, and according to Schoenbach, such inmates need meaningful educational and vocational programs. Schoenbach said steps which have been taken with such programs since the report was made "are only a band-aid where major surgery is needed."

Schoenbach said attempts were made to suppress the report—which he has given to members of the press—during an Aug. 29 meeting of the Corrections Commission.

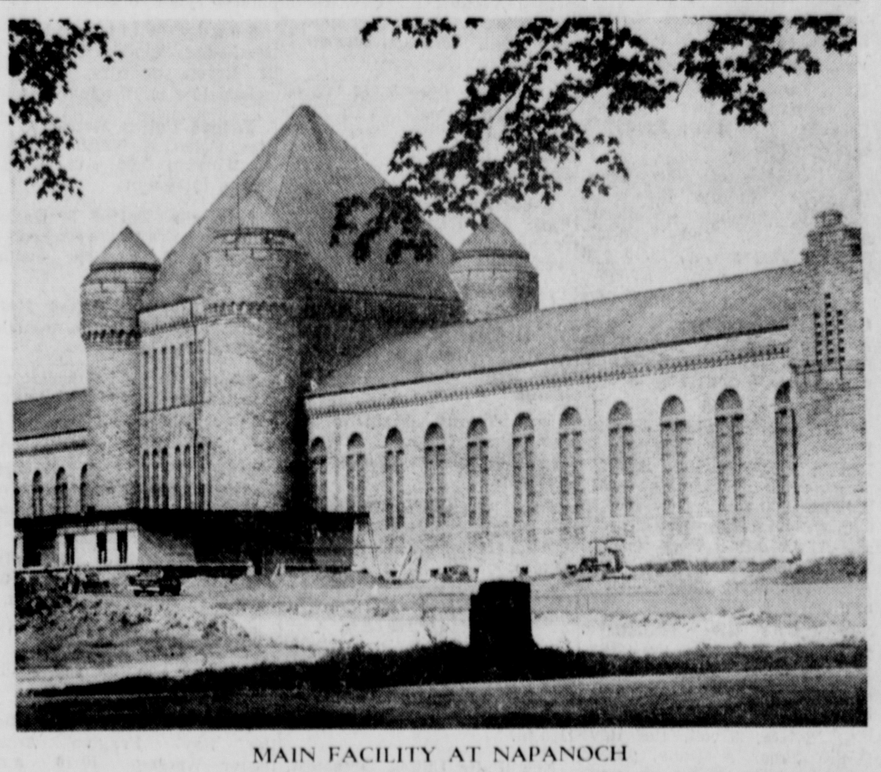

Attempts by the Freeman to contact Peter Preiser, Commissioner of the State's Correctional Services Department and chairman of the Commission of Correction, have been unsuccessful.

David Eno, public information officer for the correction department, told the Freeman that "special" reports "may or may not be made public" and said he did not know if it was the commission itself that has begun making the report public. Eno said he asked Preiser if the commission has attempted to suppress the report, and that Preiser said that the fact it has been published in places like the New York Times show that no attempts to suppress it have been made. Eno offered to send a copy of the report to the Freeman.

Schoenbach indicated he was the person who has been releasing the report.

Schoenbach said he is presently serving as a consultant on corrections for members of the state senate.

He said conditions which the report cited at Napanoch have improved somewhat since he began releasing the report, but added that they might deteriorate

Nixon Will Make Choice Known Tonight

ANOTHER SAD DAY—Former Vice-President Spiro Agnew (L) assists Mrs. Lillian Akers, as the two leave the funeral of Agnew's half brother, Roy Pollard at Randallstown, Md. Mrs. Akers is the late Mr. Pollard's aunt. The man at right is unidentified. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (U P I) — President Nixon has made his choice for a new vice president and will announce it in an address to the nation at 9 p.m. EDT, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the address, to be carried on national radio and television, would be made from the East Room of the White House. Members of Congress, the Cabinet and the diplomatic corps were invited to attend.

During an overnight visit to Camp David, the President reduced the number of possibilities to five and made his final decision this morning before flying back to Washington, Ziegler said.

The name of the nominee was a closely guarded secret.

"He made the decision this morning," Ziegler said. "The President also said in considering this matter he had reduced the number under consideration to five and this morning made the decision."

The President called in Republican congressional leaders Hugh Scott and Gerald R. Ford to discuss with them the procedure for announcing the selection.

While the identity of Nixon's choice was kept secret, it was learned that it definitely would not be one of those favored by many congressmen, House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan.

The President flew to Camp David alone at dusk Thursday carrying with him a briefcase containing recommendations of Republican congressmen, governors and other leaders. Ziegler said Nixon retired, went to bed fairly early and slept for seven hours. He arose at 6:30 a.m. and made his final decision before taking a helicopter back to the White House at 8:30 a.m.

Senate held meetings during

Leaders of the House and Senate held meetings during the day to set up procedures for hearings on the Nixon nominee. House leaders decided against joint hearings, as favored by the Senate leadership.

White House sources indicated Nixon continued to be high on John B. Connally, his former Treasury secretary and former Democratic governor of Texas. But there was growing bad feelings toward Connally on Capitol Hill.

Many congressional Democrats dislike Connally for his support of Nixon in the 1972 campaign and his subsequent switch to the Republican party, and also see him as a potential candidate for the 1976 presidential race.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said today there also was some strong anti-Connally feeling among Republicans and nomination of the former Democrat would make past Senate battles over Nixon appointees "seem like a picnic" in comparison.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, twice beaten by Nixon in Republican presidential races, was also described as anxious for the job, and his name evoked little opposition from either Republicans or Democrats in Congress in spite of his possible 1976 aspirations.

Republican Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington, chairman of the National Governors Conference, said he had indications that Rockefeller was favored by as many as 16 of the 19 GOP state governors.

White House sources, asked about support for Connally and Rockefeller, said mail to the President on the subject of a successor since Agnew resigned under fire Wednesday also showed "a lot of support" for Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, but Nixon passed word through advisors and GOP congressional leaders who conferred with him after the Agnew resignation that he would not avoid selecting someone simply because the person might be regarded as a 1976 White House candidate.

Israelis Advance Into Syria

By United Press International

An official Israel spokesman said Israeli tanks achieved a breakthrough today and were moving toward Damascus "at a high speed," throwing the Syrian army into doubt and desperation. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Thursday the offensive might all but knock Syria out of the war by nightfall.

"Our breakthrough threatens the road to Damascus," the spokesman said.

The Israeli tanks, some splashed with "Damascus Express" slogans, had advanced 10 miles into Syria after the drive resumed at dawn with massive aerial and artillery strikes. They were about 28 miles or less from the Syrian capital. The Syrian air defenses were reported in "parlous condition"

Despite this claim, fierce dogfights were reported over the Syrian front and over the semistabilized Suez Canal front where heavy artillery duels continued. Israel said it shot down 13 Syrian MIGs and 13 Egyptian planes today while both Syria and Egypt reported similar heavy Israeli air losses. Iraq said it lost 12 planes and six pilots Thursday.

Despite the "Damascus Express" slogans, it appeared the Israelis would make no attempt to capture Damascus because of the international repercussions of such a move but would concentrate on Kantara, described as a strong Syrian military center 12 miles from Damascus.

Both sides reported a series of naval actions. Israel said its warships sank two Syrian missile boats off the port of Tartous and the Syrians said they sank three Israeli vessels and that the Israelis damaged a Soviet freighter. Egypt's first communique of the day said Egyptian navy vessels destroyed three Israeli missile launches and a number of gunboats in the Gulf of Suez, 25 miles south of Suez City.

Egyptian war communiques appeared to be taking a more cautious tone and the Egyptians reported today only that their air force knocked out two Israeli radar stations in the Sinai.

While the 1973 Middle East War blazed ahead in its seventh day international diplomatic efforts to stop the fighting were at a standstill. The United Nations Security Council was bogged down but was trying again this afternoon. In the meantime both the United States and Soviet Union were reported supplying Maj. Gen. Chaim Herzog, the official Israeli military spokesman, told of Syria's troubles on a series of nationwide broadcasts. He said "the type of fighting that the Syrians are engaged in now indicates that they are in real trouble." He said the Syrian defense was "an infantry type of fighting now in the classic manner in trenches. In other words, there are signs of desperation.

"The (Syrian) armor is not quite sure what to do. It is showing signs of doubt."

Herzog said Israeli forces in the Sinai were fighting a "cat and mouse" war with Egyptian invaders and causing them "very, very heavy losses in men and to some extent in materiel."

On the southern front, Cairo's semi-official Middle East News Agency said Thursday night warplanes from a U.S. aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean joined Israel in attacks against Egyptian positions.

U.S. officials branded the report "a mischievous lie" and the Egyptian news agency later canceled the story without an explanation. Egypt made a similar charge of U.S. involvement during the 1967 war but later retracted it.

The Egyptians also reported destroying half of some 800 Israeli tanks in the southern front in fierce tank duels inside the Sinai desert. A spokesman expressed confidence Thursday night the Egyptians would crush Israel's remaining armor in the desert.

K: Detente Not in Jeopardy

WASHNGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today said while the Soviet Union has not been entirely helpful during the Middle East war, it has not acted with such irresponsibility as to endanger the world detente.

In a 50-minute news conference Kissinger also indicated that the Russian attitude concerning support of the Arabs does not now warrant shipments of major U.S. arms such as tanks and planes to Israel.

He said that if the Soviets should act in a manner deemed irresponsible by the United States, the Nixon administration would take appropriate steps. He declined to detail what this might mean.

What he did say was: "When we make a judgment that (Soviet) activities are irresponsible, we will make" the U.S. response clear.

The United States so far is supplying only relatively small amounts of arms to Israel and will not step up the flow unless it appears the Soviet Union is sending major arms supplies to Arab states, U.S. officials say.

Kissinger had planned to go to London and possibly Bonn to discuss President Nixon's trip to Europe later this year.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Iwo Jima, with about 1,800 Marines on board, will head for the Mediterranean within the next "few days," Navy and Marine officials at Norfolk, Va., and Camp Lejeune, N.C., said Thursday. The ship had been scheduled to sail to the Mediterranean next month to rotate with the helicopter carrier Guadalcanal.

An amphibious landing exercise involving the Iwo Jima was canceled so the vessel could depart early.

Pentagon officials said weapons losses in the Middle East war have been heavy for all countries involved. They said that, give or take a hundred, the Egyptians and Israelis have each lost about 400 tanks and the Syrians perhaps 600. That would amount to a fifth of Egypt's armor, a quarter of Israel's and half of Syria's.

Sources said all three countries had lost about 80 to 100 planes each. That would come to about a sixth of Egypt's airfleet, a fifth of Israel's and a quarter of Syria's.

U.S. officials said the Soviet Union has been airlifting arms to Egypt and Syria and that the United States was sending some arms to Israel. They indicated this country was basing the magnitude of its arms supply on that of the Soviets.

Meanwhile, when Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban conferred with Kissinger last Thursday about the troubled Middle East he referred to an Arab military buildup along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights.

But Eban did not appear to be alarmed or even apprehensive as the two men talked in Kissinger's New York hotel suite. They agreed to meet again in November, after the Israeli elections, to search for a means toward a negotiated settlement with the Arabs.

Over the preceding several days, in fact, the United States had asked the Israelis whether they were certain that the buildup was a defensive mobilization. The reply, in effect, was "yes."

Suddenly, late Friday, the Israeli assessment underwent a radical reversal. The tipoff was a withdrawal of Russian technicians and dependents from Cairo and Damascus. Jerusalem was then certain that Egypt and Syria were primed to attack.

City Pool Agreement Reached

KINGSTON

Specifications for a new olympic-sized swimming pool at Dietz Stadium will be prepared "within six weeks," and construction is expected to start next Spring, according to Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

Koenig announced today that a "project agreement" between the City of Kingston and the New York State Office of Parks and Recreation has been signed, toppling one of the last barriers on the road to completion of the $208,000 project.

With the signing of that "project agreement," the state has given its formal pledge to pay $104,000 as its share of the construction costs. The remaining $104,000 will be contributed by the Andretta Foundation. As a result, there will be no direct cost to city residents.

The facility, which will be located on a one-quarter acre parcel to the left of the Joy's Lane entrance to Dietz Stadium, will include at 50 by 75-foot outdoor swimming pool, a 20 by 100-foot bathhouse and storage area and a fence enclosure. The bathhouse will include locker rooms and showers.

City Engineer Thomas Wickman said that specifications will include requirements for pool size, type and manner of construction, chlorination and pressure filtration systems, and other technical data.

Detailed drawings to be certified by a licensed architect or engineer will also be required. The design and operation of the pool will also be subject to review and approval by the Ulster County Health Department.

Koenig said that bids are expected to be awarded by the Common Council in early January, 1974. The mayor said that close adherence to the construction schedule should enable the facility to be ready for public use some time next summer.

Plans for the pool were first announced in July, 1972. The Andretta Foundation, formed by Kingston resident Vincent J. Andretta Sr., announced in November, 1972 that it would donate up to $200,000 to help the project. State funds were finally made available in September of this year.

C. S. ROWLAND

CAMDEN, S. C. Clarence Sloat Rowland, 80, a Kingston native and prominent South Carolina businessman and an original member of the South Carolina State Commission for Technical Education, died Thursday at Kershaw County Memorial Hospital in Camden, S. C., after a long illness.

Born Oct. 27, 1892, he was a graduate of Ulster Academy and Eastman Business College of Poughkeepsie and he was awarded a doctorate degree in humanities from Newberry College in South Carolina.

He was associated for 40 years with the Fuller Shirt Company in Kingston before moving to Camden where he was the retired owner of the Tic Tac Manufacturing Company and its affiliates.

Former Kingston Board of Education President, Rowland was honored at Dietz Stadium in 1966 as "the man who launched a football era at Kingston High School."

He has also been recognized for efforts in behalf of bringing a better understanding between the North and the South, arranging for exchange visits between speakers from both areas. He also promoted and sponsored at his own expense a trip to Camden for the Kingston High School Choir.

He was a member of St. Timothy Lutheran Church, Camden, and serverd on the church council.

The son of the late John and Edith Campbell Rowland, he is survived by his widow, Mabel Raichle Rowland; five sons, Clarence Rowland Jr. and John Rowland of Camden; Harry Rowland of Memphs, Tenn.; Grant Rowland of Darien, Conn., and Dr. Alexander Rowland of Gettysburg, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Howard (Elizabeth) Dexter of Tenafly, N. J., and Mrs. Donald (Edith) Riehl of King of Prussia, Pa.; two brothers, Thomas Rowland of Camden, and John Rowland of Stone Ridge; 26 grandchildren.

Entrusted to the care of Keyser Funeral Service, the funeral will be held at the Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, Monday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer officiating.

Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Kingston Chapel Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Complaint Filed in Paltz Registration

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) filed a complaint against Ulster County Election Commissioners Edwin L. Callahan and John J. Hogan and the Ulster County Board of Elections Thursday in the Southern District of the Second Circuit of Federal Court in New York City, according to an announcement made Thursday afternoon by Alan Sussman, co-chairman of the Committee to Register Students (CRS).

Sussman said the complaint charged that Hogan, Callahan, and the Board of Elections engaged in "systematic discrimination against students" who were trying to register to vote in New Paltz.

Ten affidavits by students denied registration were filed along with the complaint, Sussman said. He said the affidavits had been gathered last week from students who had been denied registration at the Board of Election offices in Kingston.

The CRS was also gathering affidavits from students denied registration at the local registration held in New Paltz Thursday. Sussman said these affidavits would be used in a suit in State Supreme Court if such a suit were necessary.

According to Sussman, the ACLU was seeking a temporary restraining order against the commissioners and the board of elections, ordering them to stop refusing registration in New Paltz to students. He said the ACLU may also seek to have a special registration day ordered for sometime between now and the upcoming Nov. 6 elections.

Sussman expected the suit to be decided quickly. He said the decision on the restraining order might be rendered late today or Monday.

Sussman said the 10 affidavits included "personal denials" of registration by both Hogan and Callahan.

Hogan and Callahan both said Thursday afternoon that they knew nothing about the ACLU suit, and could not comment on it.

They both denied any "systematic denial" of registration by students. Callahan said students "who live here (New Paltz), are married with an occupation" were being registered.

Hogan said emphatically that no student was being denied the right to register. He said in those cases where the board of elections felt the individual did not qualify for New Paltz registration, aid was offered in absentee registration and filing for an absentee ballot.

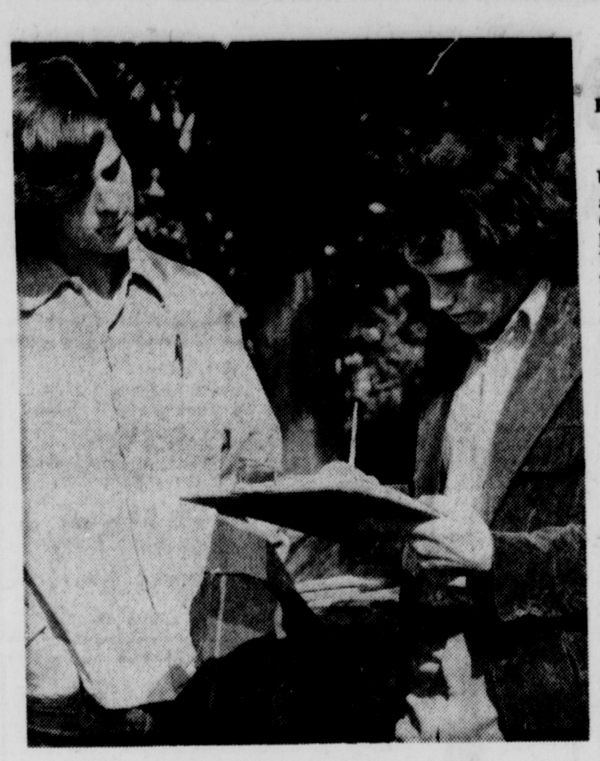

Both commissioners citied Section 151 of the Election Law, which says that no one can "gain or lose" a residence by attending an educational institution. Hogan said the State Attorney General's office was contacted, and as of 9:30 a.m. Thursday said there had been no change in the law.

"That's the law," said Callahan. "All we do is administer it."

The two commissioners were in New Paltz both in the morning and afternoon Thursday, in response to calls from election inspectors there.

Hogan said, "The students have been cooperative, most of them," though he noted that one student had tried to register before four different sets of inspectors before giving up.

The CRS has mounted a campaign to register students at the State University College at New Paltz, saying Federal Court rulings support the right of students to register there.

Residency Controversy Is Continuing

NEW PALTZ

Michael D. Broder, 20, won the dubious honor of being the first State University College at New Paltz student turned down for local registration in New Paltz Thursday.

Registration began in New Paltz at 10 a.m., and at 10:45 Broder consulted with representatives of the Committee to Register Students (CRS) about his registration turndown. The CRS has mounted a campaign to register New Paltz College students in New Paltz, saying students have the right to do so under recent Federal Court decisions.

Broder said he had presented rent receipts and a bank book as proof of residence, but had been turned down because he did not have his old voter registration card. Alan Sussman, co-chairman of the CRSS, said that was no reason to turn anyone down, and Broder began to fill out the two-page affidavit in triplicate a court case will require.

The CRS is gathering the affidavits as the basis for a suit in State Supreme Court over the county's failure to register New Paltz college students in New Paltz. A separate court action, involving students' affidavits gathered last week, was filed Thursday in Federal Court, seeking a restraining order against the county's doing so.

At the start of the day, students who lived off campus were generally allowed to register. One of those was Adnrew S. Kenward, a New Paltz senior, who used his bank book as proof of residence and reported no trouble. "You really get some dirty looks, though," he observed.

Students who lived in the college's dormitories were uniformly turned down all day, however. Michael X. Mulvihill, who lives in Gage Hall at the college, was turned down for local registration, but offered assistance in getting an absentee ballot.

Mulvihill did not want an absentee ballot, he wanted to vote in New Paltz. He said the inspectors told him that living in the dormitory could not be a permanent residence, and he was ineligible.

Sussman said dormitory residents were "systematically denied" registration. Off-campus residing students were in many cases able to get registered until about 11:30 a.m., Sussman said, and then that changed. He said after that "most" off-campus residents were denied registration as well.

County Elections Commissioners John J. Hogan and Edwin L. Calahan had answered calls for assistance and arrived in New Paltz at about 11 a.m., they said Thursday afternoon.

They both denied "systematically" denying registration to students, citing Section 151 of the Election Law as their reason for turning down the students who were turned down. That section says no one can "gain or lose" a residence by attending an educational institution.

By 2:30 p.m., Suussman estimated that the CRS had gathered about 30 affidavits from students, and there were more being processed.

All week, the CRS had been distributing a leaflet on the New Paltz campus which began "If you get hassled when you register, please read," and went on to describe the procedures a student should use to get registered, and what to do if turned down.

A second local registration day will be held Saturday, and the CRS will gather more affidavits if more students are turned down. Sussman said if the ACLU did not get the Federal Court order, the CRS would probably begin its state suit Monday.

Fabbie Scores Koenig Move

KINGSTON

Accusing Mayor Francis R. Koenig of "playing the most blatant of political games with the public," Kingston City Republican Committee chairman Frank Fabbie today sharply criticized Koenig's "last minute" employment of "experts" to study various city problems.

In a release issued today, Fabbie stated, "A recent expert, employed to do a 'study' of the Downtown Urban Renewal bog-down, will not complete his study until after November 6, Election Day. Mr. Koenig has also hired an expert engineer to 'study' the city dump. At present, he has an expert studying the old City Hall building, although this expert purportedly is for free."

"In the minds of some," continued Fabbie, "this all adds up to the fact that the Mayor is running a delaying action by employing outside experts at a late date as an excuse for not making decisions."

Fabbie continued, "Mayor Koenig himself should quality as an 'expert' on the old City Hall building, and it doesn't take an expert to see that the Kingston dump is unusable as of this date. I thought, too, that the man we are paying $24,000 a year as Urban Renewal director should surely qualify as an expert in the field of Urban Renewal."

Fabbie concluded, "I accuse Mr. Koenig of playing the most blatant of political games with the public by waiting until the end of his term to ring in experts and thus be able to dodge the voters' questions of 'What are you going to do about condition X?' His answer will be, 'I am waiting for the report from the expert.' This technique might have been used in one instance without attracting attention, but to use it on three occasions, and to use it just prior to election at that, makes it look as though Mr. Koenig is afraid to take responsibility.'"

Special Bus Available

NEW PALTZ

A New Paltz group calling itself the Concerned Citizens for Better Government will make available a school bus for local residents who are without transportation to the town hall to register Saturday, Oct. 13 for the November elections.

According to Stephen Spencer, a group spokesman, the group is non-partisan and is only concerned with helping people register so that they can exercise their franchise in the upcoming election.

Those who want to use the bus may call 255-5271 at any time, including Saturday, Spencer said, and a route will be worked out to get those who need transportation to the registration place.

Agnew's Sudden Resignation Surprises Area Congressmen

By JON POWERS

WASHINGTON

With Spiro Agnew's fall from the vice-presidency now history, the attention in Congress has been keenly focused on the crucial — and unprecedented — selection of a successor.

Ulster County's three Congressional representatives are as perplexed by the vagaries of the 25th Amendment as all their other colleagues on Capitol Hill. But Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., Howard A Robison and Benjamin A. Gilman all agree that President Nixon's selection, and subsequent Congressional approval, must be compeleted as rapidly as possible.

"It is vitally important that the vacancy not be allowed to remain for any length of time," said Fish. "I expect the President to make a decision very soon."

But Fish emphasized that Congress "will delve very carefully" into the new candidate's background. "We have the lessons of Eagleton (Sen. George McGovern's vice-presidential running mate in 1972 until past emotional problems were revealed) and Agnew behind us," the Dutchess County Republican continued. "You can expect a very thorough inquiry into this man's background."

Gilman, a Republican from Middletown, expressed similar sentiments. "It is hoped the President will make his appointment of a new vice-president with all due haste, taking advantage of this opportunity to unite our nation by appointing a candidate with truly outstanding qualifications."

Special

Robison told the Freeman that he expects Congress to give final approval to President Nixon's choice within "two or three weeks." The Tioga County Republican, however, recommended establishment of a joint House-Senate committee to investigate Nixon's candidate "to avoid any delays."

As it now stands, the name of Agnew's successor will be submitted to the Senate Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee. Fish, a member of the latter committee, will certainly have a voice in the candidate's ultimate approval or defeat.

All members of Congress have been invited to submit their recommendations to the President. Both Fish and Gilman declined to reveal their favorites for the job, but Robison wasn't at all bashful about recommending New York's Governor Rockefeller as the next vice-president.

Robison described Rockefeller as a man who has over the years, "demonstrated his administrative abilities, his capacities in different fields of foreign affairs and whose personal integrity is beyond question." He also said Rockefeller's views are "highly compatible" with those of the President, and emphasized the Governor's "fiscal responsibility."

Viewing Agnew's resignation personally, Fish said, "I was stunned when I heard the news and I was very surprised in view of the firm statements the Vice-President made to the contrary. I'm sorry this happened; I'm sorry for his family."

Said Gilman, "Vice-President Agnew's resignation from office is a painful but courageous decision. The Vice-President has placed the best interests of the nation above any personal considerations."

"Under the circumstances now revealed to the public, the only honorable course Vice-President Agnew could have followed was to submit his resignation," said Robison.

Rocky A Prime Candidate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Staggering wealth, political appeal and uncanny shrewdness have never given Nelson A. Rockefeller the opportunity that lies just beyond his grasp today as a result of another man's downfall.

New York's governor of 14 years, so often an aspiring but unsuccessful player on the national stage, must be considered a prime candidate to succeed the resigned Spiro T. Agnew as Vice President.

Rockefeller himself, except for perfunctory expressions of regret about Agnew's misfortune, is uncharacteristically silent. No demurrers of ambition that in the past have preceded his blitzkriegs onto the national scene. His political lieutenants are equally mute.

Analysis

They are waiting, expectantly, for a summons from the White House that would place Rockefeller in the No. 2 spot now and put him in a commanding position to make a run for his long-cherished goal of the Presidency in 1976.

The decision, of course, rests with President Nixon. Rockefeller's erstwhile foe and newfound friend.

But Rockefeller's own decision was probably solidified the moment he was told of Agnew's action—forego an attempt at a fifth term as governor, drop plans for an uphill, lonely battle for the presidential nomination and take the vice presidency, if offered.

The 65-year-old multimillionaire's recent performance as governor has belied his early notoriety as a Republican liberal. His stern handling of the 1971 Attica prison riot and other law-and-order stances have placed him in better stead with GOP moderates and conservatives.

The whispers about his divorce that plagued him in the 1960s have been quieted by time and changing American mores.

Vice Presidential Vacancy

The gloom of the week initiated by the Mideast war culminated with the sickening news that the Vice President of the United States had resigned his high post and had, in effect, pleaded guilty to income tax evasion. Other charges of bribery and extortion, prepared by the Justice Department against Spiro Agnew, were dropped for what was termed the "good of the nation."

Elliot Richardson, the attorney general, explained that his agency was taking this course rather than pursue prosecution because Agnew's defense would take many months, perhaps years, winding its laborious way through the courts until finally reaching the Supreme Court.

All of this, Richardson said, would have a dibilitating effect on the nation, diverting our strength and attention from the major issues of the day and weakening the country's resolve. With these sentiments the former vice president agreed, then allowed himself to plead "no contest" to the evasion charges. For this Agnew was fined $10,000 and placed on three years' probation.

In this tawdry episode, the republic has suffered deep mortification. When men in the highest offices are found to act like common criminals, it would seem to be in the hands of the common criminals, it would seem to be in the hands of the common citizenry to demand, and get, more honesty and more principle in government.

President Nixon can go a long way toward restoring some semblance of confidence in his administration with the proper choice of a successor to Agnew. That choice will remain in office for three long years, a time when the country must be united to face a difficult time ahead. Mr. Nixon would be wise to put aside his style of politics and choose the most sagacious, honest and principled person he can find, regardless of party affiliation or amount of campaign contributions. The next vice president must be a man who eschews a political future, only interested in doing what's best for his country during his term in office.

. . . a Bright Spot

However, there was one bright spot on the news front this week, albeit it was in sports. The New York Mets, not too many weeks ago relegated to the boneyard of also-rans, closed an almost-impossible gap in their division race and came out on top. Then the darlings of New York continued to titillate baseball fans by besting the awesome Cincinnati Reds to win the National League pennant. It brought a rise of hope to many who would rather not believe Leo Durocher's adage that nice guys finish last. Yogi Berra seems like a nice guy—and he finished first.

POLITICAL CAPITAL — Noting that the Soviet Union is making valuable political capital out of providing aid to poor countries in the form of American grain, Harvard, nutrition Professor Dr. Jean Mayer charged that the grain deal was indirectly responsible for the current famine in Bangladesh and Africa. The USSR used our grain elsewhere. It is urgent that we prohibit such huge deals, which raise prices here, make shortages and work against us.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS—The U.S. Forest Service has put out the biggest keep off the grass sign ever. It has prohibited all terrain vehicles—dune buggies, amphibians, scooters, four-wheel drive and the like—on all 187 million acres of national forest, grasslands and other areas it administers.

WELL-BALANCED DOG FOOD — It was not surprising to learn that a veterinarian in San Francisco declared that a well-balanced dog food is better and more nutritious than the things most humans eat. With its six basic elements—water, vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates, fats and proteins—man's best friend has everything he needs.

WEST'S JUGULAR VEIN—Describing the Indian Ocean as "the west's jugular vein," Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr. chief of naval operations, said the Soviet Union operates five times the number of ships as the United States in that area. Through it tankers carry vital oil supplies. Should war break out the danger is evident.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

'Crayola' Strikes the Catskills

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHNGTON — We have found ourselves sucked into the vortex of a bizarre extortion scheme.

It began with the recent appearance in our offices of a mysterious stranger dressed in a flowery shirt and flared pants. He called himself "Crayola."

He told us an improbable story, which we have now been able to verify. Justice Department sources have filled in the details he omitted.

In late June, according to government sources, the general manager of the posh Concord Hotel in New York's Catskill Mountains received an extortion letter.

Unless he coughed up $320,000 in unmarked bills, threatened the letter, the hotel's guests would be dosed with LSD. The letter was signed, in bright crayon, with the name "Crayola."

FBI SUPERVISES PAYOFF

The hotel immediately notified the FBI, whose agents supervised the payoff arrangements. At Crayola's instructions, the hotel on July 6 sent a girl into downtown Manhattan with the payoff packages.

At precisely 3:15 p.m., she was waiting beside some phone booths at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 44th Street. Hanging from her shoulders were two peach-colored TWA flight bags. One of the telephones rang. She picked it up and stammered the code word "Crayola."

She was directed from phone booth to phone booth, with unseen FBI agents following at a discreet distance. The strange scenario was directed by Crayola from a vantage point on the second floor of the Pan Am building.

As the girl approached Grand Central station, Crayola contacted an accomplice named "Bob" at a payphone on the lower level. "It's on," said Crayola cryptically.

FEMALE ACCOMPLICE

Bob moved to a glass-paneled door with a sign, "Ladies Room Closed. Use Upper Level." Behind the doors, a female accomplice named "Inez" waited. Bob pushed his foot through the left panel of the door. In bustling Grand Central, no one noticed the tinkle of broken glass.

By now, the girl with the flight bags was becoming distraught. When she was instructed to proceed to still another phone booth on the lower level, she objected. "No job is worth this," she pleaded.

Crayola assured her she wouldn't be harmed and directed her to a phone beneath a poster advertising a watch called the "Concord."

"If I weren't so scared,' she whimpered. "I'd be laughing."

FAKE LOOT

At the Concord sign, she was told to turn around, walk quietly to the glass door behind her and then shove the flight bags through the hole. The bags landed on a rug attached to a piece of rope. From the recesses of the room, Inez began reeling in the loot. One bag fell off, but the other disappeared with her into the darkness.

Three FBI agents rushed up but found the door to be locked. When they managed to enter the abandoned restroom, they discovered it was connected by an old stairway to the upper level ladies room. The culprits had escaped with half of the payoff.

The money, however, was fake, and the bags were planted with electronic beepers. But the dropping of the bags caused the beepers to malfunction.

Two weeks later, the FBI received a letter from Crayola claiming the extortion plot had been a hoax. "The Bureau blundered disastrously and irretrievably by substituting fake money for real," he wrote. This was "irrefutable proof of the Bureau's knowing, deliberate and wanton endangering of hundreds of unsuspecting guests at the Concord.

BLACKMAIL PLOT

Believe it or not, Crayola was trying to blackmail the FBI. Jack Anderson would be told of the FBI's "callousness," he threatened, unless the jailed LSD prophet, Timothy Leary, was released.

But the FBI had the last laugh. Its agents, working quietly, identified Crayola and located a safety deposit box he had opened in a phony name at the New York Savings Bank.

Crayola was under partial FBI surveillance when he came to us. My associate Joe Spear listened incredulously to his story of the extortion-blackmail plot against the FBI. As evidence, Spear asked to see the extortion letter.

Thereafter, an accomplice picked up the letter from the safety deposit box. He was on his way to make a Xerox copy for us when the FBI moved in. Robert Greenman was arrested with the incriminating document. Agents also nabbed John Calvin VanOrsdell, a free-lance writer and author of a novel entitled "Ragland," in Pennsylvania.

VanOrsdell has now authorized us to identify him as Crayola. He would not, however, name his accomplices.

"Oh, Excuse Me! I Have to See a Man About a Dog!"

Inside Report

Suicidal Arab Venture

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHNGTON — Failure of the mightiest Arab attack against Israel in the whole, tragic 25-year history of the Arab-Israeli war virtually assures the historical event it was supposed to make impossible: Israeli occupation for years, perhaps decades, of the Arab lands captured in the six-day 1967 war.

With the logic of proof supplied in the past five days, Israel now can argue — and surely will insist — that a border along the Suez Canal, against Egypt, and another on the heights of Golan, against Syria, are absolutely essential if Israel is to live in relative security.

As one student of the Middle East put it to us: "This solidifies as nothing else could the Israeli intention to hold the Arab territories seized in 1967.

Attempting to unravel hard facts from the sticky ball of twine which traces events in the days just before the Egyptian-Syrian attack last Saturday is difficult, but one fact appears inescapable: the Israeli government of Golda Meir passed on voluminous private intelligence to the Nixon administration that Egypt and Syria were, in fact, building their attack forces to unprecedented size for the expected movement across the Suez Canal and on the Syrian Golan Heights.

Indeed, such intelligence must surely have been at hand here without any help from the Israelis. But the U.S. faced two unanswered questions: first, could Egypt or Syria, particularly Egyptian President Anwar Sadat with his known pro-U.S. political posture, be blind enough to risk suicidal attack; and second, even if the White House had known for sure that such an attack was coming, what could President Nixon do to stop it?

In hindsight, the answer to the first is that the Western democracies have never been able to understand Arab psychology and the risk of suicide the Arabs are ready to accept when Arab honor is at stake.

As for the second, Mr. Nixon was helpless. Sadat played the American game in the crucial autumn of the 1972 presidential election campaign by dismissing thousands of Soviet advisors, and got absolutely nothing for it from the Nixon administration. Thus, despite the delicate beginnings several weeks ago of a fresh U.S. effort to solve the Middle East crisis, U.S. influence in Cairo has been paper thin. In Syria, it is nonexistent.

Consequently, the warnings from Tel Aviv accomplished nothing in Washington. The Israelis resolved their own internal debate by deciding not to repeat the success of 1967 and stage a massive preemptive attack. Result: grave Israel casualties (but not approaching the eventual kill of Arabs) coupled with ironclad new evidence supporting the Israeli position that distant borders — the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights — are probably essential for her security. Neither Israel nor any other state can maintain perpetual mobilization.

Some close-in Mideast watchers believe that the Arab game was not what it seems to have been — a genuine, all-out military effort to recapture Sinai and the Golan. Rather, they perceive the real Arab goal as more Machiavellian: creating a volatile anti-Western fury throughout the Arab world in the aftermath of the Arab defeat. That fury, they predict, would be used to persuade pro-U.S. Saudi Arabia and some other big oil producing states to cut off oil and threaten a far graver Western energy crisis.

Perhaps the latest tragedy will run in that direction, but recent history points to a far less Machiavellian, far more emotional, rationale. In our last visit to the Middle East 10 months ago, some Egyptian officials were pushing for just such a military venture as has now occurred. We reported then the existence of secret studies indicating that "a crossing of the Suez Canal" would cost 10,000 Egyptian casualties, both military and civilian, but that that price would be worth paying if Israel itself could be "damaged."

The price now promises to be far, far higher. Moscow, still hard in pursuit of detente with Washington, is now watching hundreds of millions of dollars worth of made-in-Moscow military hardware burn up in the desert. This time, replacement may be far in the future. The Soviets apparently had nothing to do with the Arab attack.

In short, the tragic role of the Arabs has now been to solve the border and territorial questions for the foreseeable future — in exactly the way Israel wanted.

Washington Calling

The Pressure on Nixon Lessens

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — As a stunning surprise to Washington and the nation Vice President Spiro Theodore Agnew resigned his office. It can only be assumed that he acted, despite the round of official denials, at the request of President Nixon.

Under the 25th Amendment the President may now name a new Vice President subject to approval by majority vote of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The widespread belief is that he will name John Connally, the former governor of Texas and former Secretary of the Treasury. The spate of denials has never put a stop to the speculation that this was the course the President planned from the beginning of Agnew's troubles.

The 25th Amendment says nothing about how a new Vice President shall be brought before the Congress for consideration, the sparse language merely setting forth the requirement of confirmation. Congressional leaders have discussed the possibility of extended hearings into the appointment.

Other names of possible successors have been mentioned, among them Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Reagan's monied supporters are convinced that their man will be the President's choice.

One argument advanced during the prolonged speculation is that the President name a nonpolitical figure for the unexpired balance of the term. This is because it is evident that an ambitious politician pointing toward the Republican nomination would have a big leg up if he were in the Vice President's chair and at Nixon's side for three years. This perfectly fits Connally.

Until recently a Democrat, head of Democrats for Nixon during the 1972 campaign, Connally's appointment would create dissension among Republicans.

That would be particularly true of the right wing where support for Agnew has been fervent. Ten days ago addressing a national federation of Republican women in California he drew a standing ovation and repeated cheers.

On the day after the charges against him surfaced, Agnew said at a press conference he would never be indicted and he has again and again denied rumors of resignation. By pleading guilty to a count of income tax evasion he has apparently escaped indictment. His no contest plea was held equivalent to a plea of guilty.

Until quite recently those close to Attorney General Elliott Richardson believed that Agnew meant to tough it out for the three remaining years of his term. They based this on the belief that he would carry his challenge against any criminal prosecution to the highest court.

At his most recent press conference last week President Nixon had said Agnew was under no compulsion to resign even should he be indicted by a grand jury in Baltimore.

While sentiment for Agnew had been growing among right-wing Republicans, there was resentment over what these same Republicans felt was Nixon's failure to come to the aid of his Vice President. Not only that, but they accused the Department of Justice of a series of calculated leaks to discredit Agnew.

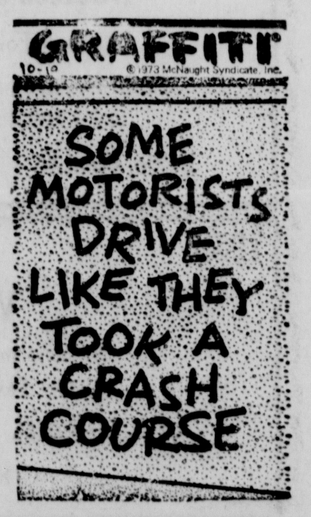

In subpoenas brought against newsmen and news magazines the Vice President had only three days ago demanded to know the confidential sources on which they based their reports.

The Vice President had made a vain attempt to get the House of Representatives to investigate the charges against him.

Such an investigation would presumably have anticipated consideration by the House of a bill of impeachment, Speaker Carl Albert announced only two days after the Vice President's request that there would be no investigation.

What now becomes evident is that Agnew, trapped in his past, has been thrashing about in an effort to find a proper exit. The income tax charge was only one of many — including bribery and conspiracy — under consideration by the grand jury.

Agnew's departure leaves Nixon with his own troubles and the challenge of confidentiality of the tapes soon to be heard in the Supreme Court after a ruling by the court of appeals. But clearing the decks of the Agnew scandal diminishes the pressures on the President and with a strong Vice President, such as Connally, he will be in a more fortunate position.

Just Like a Normal Thursday for Agnew

WASHINGTON (U P I) — Spiro T. Agnew began Thursday as he had many of the 1,724 days he served as the nation's vice president.

At 9 a.m. EDT, Agnew arrived at the Executive Office Building and went to his third-floor office, which the White House says he can use while winding up his affairs.

He began cleaning out his desk and worked much of the day on a speech he has promised to give soon to the American people about the personal crisis that forced him to resign as the 39th vice president.

"He's at his desk," an aide said. "He's giving that address (which) he promised some thought. I would think that most of this speech will be his own work."

Besides losing his $62,500-a-year job and being ordered to pay a $10,000 fine within 30 days, Agnew also faces possible civil tax problems.

Agnew's plea of no contest was to the specific charge that he evaded about $13,000 in 1967 income taxes. An official of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) said a person in Agnew's position would still owe the taxes plus a 50 per cent penalty.

Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel said the state will probably collect any back state taxes due from Agnew.

At a news conference Thursday, Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson said only the "civil aspect" of Agnew's taxes were of interest to IRS. The government's criminal investigation, he said, is "closed."

"These ... are matters before the Internal Revenue Service of the Department of the Treasury," Richardson said "... they remain to be worked out, be pushed further, between the Internal Revenue Service and counsel for the vice president."

Richardson said Agnew has not lost any of his civil rights. "He can continue to vote, according to the views of the assistant attorney general. There will be no conflict with respect to property rights, and there will be no prohibition against his holding office under the Maryland Constitution," Richardson said.

He said Agnew would be free to "live wherever he chooses" during his three years of probation.

Agnew's $190,000 home in the exclusive Kenwood section of Montgomery County, Md., is not owned by the government. His monthly mortage payment is reportedly more than $1,100.

In the afternoon Agnew left his office to attend the funeral of his half-brother, W. Ray Pollard, in suburban Baltimore.

He was driven there in the vice presidential limousine, accompanied by Secret Service agents.

He returned to the Executive Office Building after the funeral and worked until evening on the speech.

GOP-Owned Computer Firm Hurt McGovern in California

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern might well have carried California in 1972 if Republicans had not secretly owned a computer firm used by the Democrats, McGovern's campaign manager contends.

Frank Mankiewicz told the Senate Watergate committee Thursday the McGovern campaign used a firm called Computer Ideas because it had regularly done work for Democrats.

He said he did not know at the time that it had recently been bought by a group of businessmen headed by Herbert Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal lawyer.

McGovern used the firm in the California primary. Into it he plugged the names and addresses of 95 per cent of the Democratic voters in the state, showing on a scale of one to five how they felt about McGovern.

"That firm was either incompetent or worse," Mankiewicz said. "We found so much of our mail sitting around undelivered, and they made us a refund."

The Democrats didn't use the firm for the November election, and they left behind their computerized list of registered voters.

"Now you can't win in California as a Republican without a lot of Democratic votes," Mankiewicz said. And, he said, the Republicans had the lists of Democratic voters unfavorable to McGovern.

Mankiewicz said he does not know if the lists were used by the Republicans. But he added "I believe quite firmly that possession of that list made the difference in November."

Mankiewicz said he was convinced that either his telephone or McGovern's was bugged because within hours of their conversations "it would be public."

He said there were more than 40 cases throughout the campaign of persons calling the news media, local business and political leaders and meeting halls falsely cancelling McGovern appearances.

The committee recessed for two weeks.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury indicted Egil Krogh, a former aide to President Nixon who headed the White House "plumbers" unit, on two counts of perjury in Watergate testimony.

Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox asked U.S. District Court to deny motions for bail by E. Howard Hunt and four Miami men, all now in prison for the 1972 Watergate burglary.

Mankiewicz said that Dick Tuck, the professional dirty trickster, was hired by the McGovern campaign but did not do any work against the Nixon campaign.

Six Men Trapped Inside Capsized Dredge

SANGATTE, France (UPI) — Frogmen and rescue teams fought high waves and darkness in the English Channel today, trying to cut through the metal hull of a capsized dredge to save the lives of six men believed trapped inside.

Authorities said the operation was "touch and go." Rescuers said they managed to drill a small hole in the hull but had not yet made one large enough to permit the men trapped inside to crawl out.

The dredge, the Cap de la Hague based at Calais, was manned by 15 sailors when it overturned Thursday morning in the channel.

The British Coast Guard said two bodies and two survivors were picked up. Maritime authorities said five other crewmen were unaccounted for and were feared drowned.

Rescue tugs managed to tow the dredge only partially aground four miles off this channel town and rescuers said pounding waves, swift current and darkness were hampering operations to free the men.

French radio said despite the small hole rescuers succeeded in drilling in the hull, the supply of oxygen inside was dwindling with each passing hour.

Rescuers said the men apparently lived thanks to an air pocket formed when the dredge turned over off Calais.

Maritime authorities Thursday said three bodies were recovered but later revised the figure to two.

Rescuers said the men trapped inside had been heard shouting for help and rapping on the hull.

Special French Navy units were called in early today to join the vessels already at the task of trying to free the men.

Major Recreational Facility Is Slated for Marbletown

STONE RIDGE — The Town of Marbletown is the process of obtaining a major recreational facility—at no cost to the taxpayers—as well as a "substantial" sum of money to develop the site, it was announced at Wednesday's Town Board meeting by Supervisor Kenneth Smith.

Smith revealed that Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. has offered to donate its former High Falls Generating Power Plant property to the town—for free. In addition, Central Hudson will provide, according to Smith, "a substantial sum of money" to be used by the town to renovate the site and prepare it for use as a town park and recreational facility.

The supervisor said he wasn't at liberty to disclose how much money Central Hudson intends to donate. "But when they told me how much money was involved," said Smith, "I almost fell over."

Central Hudson abandoned its High Falls generating station about two years. Located on the banks of the Rondout Creek along Route 213, the site includes a large building, several acres of waterfront property and a large wooded area. The exact acreage has not been determined.

"Both the building and the site are ideal for recreation purposes," said Smith, "It's a wonderful grant and a wonderful gesture on Central Hudson's part. All the members of the town board are thrilled."

Smith said that efforts to obtain the property were commenced more than a year-and-a-half ago. "We thought we could buy the property for a nominal price," the supervisor commented, "We never dreamed that we'd get it for free, and that Central Hudson would be willing to pay for repairs and development."

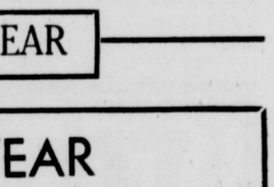

Smith noted that the site, at present, is "antiquated," and that it needs considerable work before it can be opened to the public. He explained Central Hudson's cash donation by saying, "It wouldn't have been in Central Hudson's best interests to turn over the property in bad condition. If something ever happened, the people would blame Central Hudson, so they're going to fix the place up for us."

Smith said the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios is in the process of inspecting the site to determine just what needs to be done. The site should be ready for use early next year, at the latest.

Before the final deal is consumated, Smith added, a public hearing will be held to solicit opinions on varying ways to put the site — especially the building — to use.

Northern Dutchess Groups To Protest Plant Construction

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK — Several Northern Dutchess County groups will journey to Albany Oct. 18 to recommend against the construction of a Central Hudson power plant at the Terry Brickyard site in the Town of Ulster or on Cruger's Island, Town of Red Hook.

Winthrop Aldrich, member of the ad hoc Terry Brickyard Association, has listed the following groups as having intensions to testify before the Public Service Commission: Terry Brickyard Association; Dutchess County Environmental Association; Bard College Ecology Department; Rhinebeck and Red Hook Environmental Advisory Councils; Dutchess County Landmarks Association; and Rhinebeck Historical Society.

While the Ulster site appears to be the favorite of Central Hudson for its power plant among three under consideration in the Mid-Hudson Valley, attention is also being directed toward the possibility of the utility constructing a plant on Cruger's Island, off the shore near Bard College.

The company has a plant under construction at Roseton, and also has considered an Athens, Greene County, site for building.

A recent announcement that it may not be necessary to build on the river was reported in the Freeman Sept. 27. The report given at the company's annual management conference said that it will decide by 1975 "if it is more advantageous to build another large generating plant in its own system or participate with other electric companies in the construction of a large generating plant elsewhere in New York State."

A copy of long range plans by Central Hudson, put out in August, is available to customers for inspection at any of the following five offices during business hours: 284 South Avenue, Poughkeepsie; 607 Broadway, Kinston; 256 Broadway, Newburgh; 353 Main Street, Beacon; and 391 Main Street, Catskil.

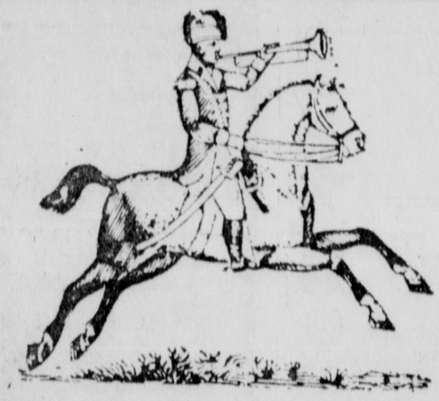

A copy of the 1973 long range plans may be procured by contacting Charles Rider, vice president, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, at the Poughkeepsie address.

The PSC will conduct a 10 a.m. hearing in Albany at its offices at 44 Holand Avenue on long range plans by Central Hudson. Oral comments from the public may be heard at 3 p.m. The PSC is also holding hearings on plans by other New York State Utility companies Oct. 17 and 18. Written comments may be submitted to the PSC prior to Nov. 17.

Persons wishing to make oral comments at the hearings should notify the secretary prior to the meeting date. Questioning of representatives of the various electric corporations will be limited to to members of the PSC and its counsel.

Town Justice Warns Public on Consumer Fraud

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock Town Justice Kevin Sweeney has issued a warning for local consumers to be on guard against fraudulent or unscrupulous money - making companies.

"I've seen people who can least afford to lose their money shamefully exploited by work-at-home rackets," said Sweeney, "I'd like to warn local residents against phony ads promising lucrative home employment. They appear in "Help Wanted" and "Business Opportunities" columns of newspapers and magazines, and offer lures like these: 'Address and mail post cards at home. Make over $50 a week', and $100 monthly for assembly work at home', or 'Earn $27 a dozen for sewing aprons at home. Experience unnecessary. Instructions furnished'."

Sweeney continued, "Not one such company that has come to the attention of the Better Business Bureaus has been found to offer real employment or actually guarantee a market for the finished product."

"Rather," added Sweeney, "the advertiser requires that you buy something from him. His primary purpose is to sell you overpriced goods, literature or services — holding in front of you the lure of big profits, if you bite."

The price for those "overpriced" goods, according to Sweeney, can be "exorbitant." He added, "One promoter is charging work-at-home hopefuls $4.98 for a half-pound of fireproofing salt to sell to neighbors The same product at retail stores sells for 38 cents."

Woodstock's town justice also noted that the instructions sent with the product are often "worthless." Said Sweeney, "One housewife sent $2 for instructions on how to make her spare time profitable. The $2 brought this information: 'Since you are a housewife, you surley know how to make pies. Therefore, get an automobile and peddle your pies throughout your neighborhood'."

"Mailing expenses are another come-on," added Sweeney, "One promoter of a sew-at-home scheme promises to furnish materials if you send him $2 for mailing expenses. If you send him $2, he'll ask for $4 more for shipping expenses. After sending him the $4, you'll be told to get customers first, then their orders will be passed on to you to fill."

"The only ones who come out ahead on these schemes are the promoters. One advertiser took in over a million dollars from people who sent for instructions on how to get rich selling name plates. In another racket, over 15,000 people paid over $500,000 to do photo-coloring at home, but got no work. A scheme involving decorating and selling Christmas cards took in over $100,000 before the promoter fled."

Sweeney concluded by urging consumers to "avoid any company that expects you to pay for the privilege of working for it, or promises you fantastic profits in exchange for easy work . . . Should you ever be solicited or feel that you would like to respond to a 'work-at-home' project, do not hesitate to consult with the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County."

Candidacy Is Announced

WOODSTOCK

Alan D. Van Wagenen, a former police officer, has formally announced his candidacy, as an independent, for the position of town justice.

Van Wagenen, a life-long resident of Woodstock, in speaking of his independent candidacy, said "I intend absolutely no political affiliation. I feel that the two-party system has proven itself obsolete and unworkable and further, that an independent candidate — owing no allegiance to any single party — can better serve the whole of his community."

Van Wagenen also declared that if elected, he intends to vote to remove himself and Justice Rudolph Baumgarten from active (voting) participation on the Town Board. "I have the utmost respect for Rudi (Baumgarten) and feel he is without doubt one of the most competent justices we have ever had in our community." Van Wagenen said. "However, I feel that it is inappropriate for a person who dispenses justice to sit on a panel which mandates local legislation and subsequently (is) responsible for the administration of those laws. If, on the other hand, I find myself being required to sit as a member of the Town Board, I will avail myself to all the voters of Woodstock and try to respond to their wishes regardless of party affiliation."

Citing his experience as a police officer, Van Wagenen said that if elected he would have the qualifications and the "necessary attitudes" for the position in a community with "such varying life-styles and moral standards."

Croswell To Head Campaign

TOWN OF HURLEY

Raymond Crosswell, Republican candidate for supervisor, has been named campaign chairman for the Republican team in the township, Town Chairman Clarence Anderson announced today.

Crosswell, completing 13 years as town clerk, will be assisted by Peter J. Naccarato of Hurley, candidate for highway superintendent and Walter J. Rose, candidate for reelection as a town councilman.

Mrs. Patricia Glass of Route 28A, West Hurley, will be running for town clerk, the first woman to seek that office on the Republican ticket in more than 25 years.

Other candidates include Chester H. DuMond, seeking another term as town justice, Joseph Vidal, and Schuyler Weidner, both seeking reelection as assessors. All are residents of Hurley.

Enrollment Record Set At UCCC

STONE RIDGE

Final enrollment for Ulster County Community College's fall semester is expected to exceed 3,000 students for a new record, according to an announcement made today by Dr. George B. Erbstein, college president.

He said that the combined full-time and part-time enrollments exceeds 2,300 students in credit courses.

Registration still is under way for credit-free courses being offered this fall by the college and Dr. Erbstein said indications are that this enrollment will exceed 700 persons.

"That would give us a total enrollment for the Fall Semester of more than 300 students, the best ever," Dr. Erbstein said.

The president noted that the college is equipped to provide educational opportunities for persons with varied backgrounds and differing needs. "We are providing programs for persons working toward degrees, individuals desiring to prepare for or update their vocational careers, and people seeking educational experiences to enrich their lives."

New Paltz Dinner

Fairley Named to Ticket

JAMES J. FAIRLEY

ULSTER PARK — James J. Fairley of Esopus Avenue, Ulster Park, has replaced Anthony W. Amato of Port Ewen as a Democratic candidate for the Ulster County Legislature, according to an announcement made by Roger W. Mabie, chairman of the Town of Esopus Democratic Committee.

Fairley will be seeking election to the county legislature from District 6, which comprises the Town of Esopus and Rosendale. Amato had originally been nominated for the post at a joint caucus of the two town committees, but after his nomination he moved to Delaware County because of business considerations.

The resulting vacancy was filled when the Committee on Vacancies selected Fairley.

Fairley is president of Tri-County Business Machines, Inc., at 448 Broadway, Kingston. A graduate of Kingston High School, he served in the U.S. Army from 1958 to 1960 and in 1961 was recalled for an additional year of service during the Cuban missle crisis.

Fairley is an active participant in the New York State Association for Retarded Children, the Esopus Little League, the Esopus Sacred Heart Parish Club, the Esopus Fire Department, the Port Ewen School Parent Teachers Organization and the Emma Wygant Parents Club.

Fairley and his wife, Rose Marie, are the parents of six children.

Fairley will join incumbents Lewis C. Kirschner of Port Ewen and Louis M. Klein of Tillson as candidates for the Ulster County Legislature from District 6.

Property Disclosure Is Filed

GARDINER — Republican candidate for Gardiner Supervisor Jerry Williams has filed a disclosure of his property holdings with Gardiner Town Clerk, Vivian McCord fulfilling what he said was a "moral obligation" arising from his candidacy.

Williams stated, "There has been a great deal of mistrust of government representatives at all levels in recent months. Even members of our neighboring community of New Paltz have fallen under suspicion of political maneuvering for personal gain.

"Since I have now entered the political arena as a candidate for the office of supervisor of Gardiner, I therefore, feel a moral obligation to the voters of Gardiner to make a formal disclosure of my real estate holdings in this township."

"In 1968 I purchased 29 acres with a defunct boarding house, restaurant and tavern. The boarding house and restaurant are now year-round apartments. The tavern has become a real estate office for Marakill Realty with my wife, Rose Marie, as the licensed real estate broker.

"I have chosen to make this disclosure voluntarily and invite my opponent to show his trust in the people of Gardiner by doing the same," Williams concluded.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS OPEN — With a snip of the scissors, the city Democratic Committee opened its 1973 campaign headquarters recently at 486 Broadway. Officials on hand for the ceremony included (L-R) John Dwyer, candidate for the Ulster County Legislature; William C. Mullaney, Democratic candidate for Family Court Judge; Harold Brown Jr. (with the scissors), chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee; Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo. City chairman Lawrence Woerner also attended, along with numerous Democratic candidates for city and county offices. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Candidate Scores Majority

NEW PALTZ — Terming Ulster County "a depressed area" and the Republican majority in the Ulster County Legislature "entrenched and arrogant leadership responsive only to certain segments of the community," Thomas Nyquist, Democratic candidate for the Ulster County Legislature from District 8, came out with his sharpest criticisms of the campaign recently.

Said Nyquist, "As regular as clockwork, we see pictures in the newspapers of our county legislative leaders giving their blessings to such events as 'be kind to gophers week'. Almost every week in the year has now been dedicated to something, or so it seems. I presume we are expected to equate this with legislative leadership."

But, continued Nyquist, "The facts tell us a different story about progress in Ulster County . . . Ulster County is in trouble educationally and medically, and its highways have made it one of the most accident prone areas of the state. Statistics for 1971 (the most recent statistics available) show that Ulster County has the 10th highest school dropout rate in New York State, New York City included. It ranks 13th in reported cases of tuberculosis, and is known for its sparsity of doctors and lack of medical facilities. It ranks 10th in the number of highway deaths. Moreover, its per capita income is lower than three of the 15 counties in Appalachia that qualify for federal relief funds. Where is our leadership on these problems?"

Nyquist also maintained that county officials have not taken a stand on the county's land-use and growth problems, an item he said is especially important with the planned expansion of Stewart Airport in Newburgh.

County Park Efforts Pledged

NEW PALTZ — The seven Republicans running for the Ulster County Legislature from District 8 released a joint statement recently pledging their continued efforts to establish a county park at the site of the Ulster County Home in New Paltz.

The statement was signed by incumbents Peter J. Savago, Louis Bevier, Eugene Noe, Brian White and James Palen and candidates George Sisti and Thomas Roach. District 8 includes the Towns of Lloyd, Marlboro, New Paltz, Gardiner and Plattekill.

Commenting on the proposed establishment of the park at the County Home location, the Republicans stated, "Although this site is still in the planning stage and has not been funded yet, it is anticipated that the first facility, an olympic size swimming pool, will be ready for use this coming spring. Approval for the pool has already been given by the Recreation and Youth Committee of the county legislature and further development is planned for the future. It is anticipated that future development will include a basketball court, camping facilities, a little league baseball field, a softball field, a childrens' play area, a pavilion and other recreational areas.

"All seven Republican candidates have pledged to work for the completion of this park in order to provide the residents of Southern Ulster County with much needed park and recreational facilities," concluded the Republican candidates.

They also cited efforts of the county legislature in creation of the new county park at St. George's Camp in the Town of Ulster as an example of their party's emphasis on providing adequate recreational facilities for the residents of Ulster County.

Dye Case Continues

TOWN OF ULSTER — Republican Legislator Douglas V. Dye, running as an independent for reelection this year, said today that a request by the state attorney general for an appeal on a State Appellate Court ruling, retaining his name on the ballot has been rejected by that court.

Dye was originally ruled off the ballot, as an independent by the Ulster County Board of Elections, but was later ordered back on the ballot by a supreme court justice whose decision was subsequently upheld by a 5-0 ruling of the State Appellate Court.

Dye said today there is a possibility that the attorney general might appeal the case to the State Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal. "The fact of the appeal to the Court of Appeals is not to be taken lightly," Dye said, "especially in view of the fact that the next appeal is directly to the United States Supreme Court. It is unimaginable that my candidacy could evoke such a response from current county leaders. What can they possibly fear?

"I must conclude that their prime interest is control of the county and prevention of my returning the selection of the county Legislature to the people." Dye said.

County Legislators Establish Nuclear Moratorium

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — The creation of an Ulster County Sports Authority Commission, a moratorium on nuclear power plants and the study of a plan whereby food stamps might be used for the senior citizens meals-on-wheels program were given the go ahead by the Ulster County Legislature.

During this, the last meeting before the Nov. 6 election, the legislative rhetoric bordered on the rancorous at times with Melvin Mones (R-City) accusing the Democrats of "carrying on like 13-year-old idiots" and Minority leader Dr. Gerald P. Formen (D-City) calling Mones' impression "erroneous."

The remarks were apparently prompted by repeated accusations from both sides of the aisle with Republicans and Democrats alike charging each other with "grandstanding" just before election.

Mones said he was "ashamed of the degeneration" reached in the Legislature and scored Alex J. Nirenberg (D-Dist. 10) for his lack of attendance at committee meetings during his two years as a legislator.

Dr. Gorman took exception, saying Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago has always been fair and always attempted to have a productive legislature. "Productivity speaks and the productivity of this board is something we can be proud of," Dr. Gorman added.

The verbal exchange followed the defeat of an amendment advanced by Nirenberg with regard to the formation of the sports authority resolution. He wished to increase from six to seven the number of at-large appointeees to the commission. Approval of the commission itself, which was proposed by three Saugerties GOP legislators, C. Freeman Lasher, Charles Scala and Clifford Snyder, came with a vote of 32-0. One member, James Gilpatric (D-City), present at the afternoon session, was absent for the vote.

The commission is being established to determine the extent of Ulster County's participation in the New York States Sports Authority Program with an eye toward the establishment of sports facilities and a civic center.

The board also voted to request that a state and federal moratorium be declared on nuclear power piants. All present voted for the proposal except two Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company employees who abstained — Clarence Raichle (R-City) and Majority Leader J. Gardner (R-Dist. 11).

Prior to the evening session in the County Office Building, the Legislators heard a talk during the afternoon meeting by Ned Lahac, of New Paltz, representing the Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear Safety who urged the county board to pass the resolution saying you will "earn the respect and gratitude of thousands of very worried Ulster County residents."

The citizens organization is particualrly concerned with the proposed establishment of a nuclear plant in the Town of Lloyd in Ulster County.

Republicans and Democrats got together on another proposal voting 32-0 to create a committee to study a food stamp program for the meals-on-wheels program. An amendment proposed by Lewis Kirschner (D-Dist. 7) asking that the county pick up the tab for the food if the food stamps are not available, was defeated.

Earlier in the day, Rosemary Valendez, representing the Ulster County Welfare Rights Organization suggested that the Legislature meet with the Social Services Department "to work out a realistic system of allocating the amount to be paid for food stamps since 'excessive' rents cut down on the resources of the welfare family." She also urged that welfare checks be issued at the same time as the food stamps.

Opposition came to three resolutions filed by Legislator Louis Klein (D-Dist. 7). The board defeated 20 to 12 his proposal that a study of public transportation be made in the county. Sentiment was mixed among the legislators regardless of party affiliation Dr. Gorman called it a "good resolution" while Raichle termed it "totally unrealistic, purely political and not practical," in view of the geographic relationship of the towns and the city involved.

Klein also proposed that sellers of real property procure a statement from their local assessor regarding their present and future property assessments.

Legislator Ralph Brach (R-Dist. 9) lableed the legislation "a monstrosity" while Klein claimed that assessors were picking up information on the selling price of properties from tax stamps recorded on the deeds in the County Office Building.

Savago countered saying assessors assess on the basis of the value of the proprty not on the tax stamps.

Glenn Debrosky (R-Dist. 7) stated that the Town of Rosendale which he and Klein represent, has one of the lowest equalization rates in the county. "That means the assessors are not doing their job," he suggested. The resolution was defeated.

A proposal of Klein's to create an industrial development board was also defeated 24 to 8 along party lines with the Republicans declaring that it was their consensus that competent leaders were already working on industrial development problems, especially as they relate to the proposed Stewart Jetport.

Another resolution to ask the legislature to oppose the state's $3.5 million transportation bond issue was tabled at the suggestion of William West (R-Dist. 12) who asked that no action be taken until it is determined what will be available to Ulster County in the way of transportation advancement under the bond issue. The vote to table was 20 to 12.

A vote of 30 to 1 approved a resolution opposing the further taking by the state of land in the Town of Hardenburgh. Brach opposed the measure. The board voted further to seek approval of an Albany-Kingston express bus service applied for to the state by Adirondack Transit Lines Inc.: to purchase an IBM computer for $758.570 and to increase the Sociaal Serviices budget to take caare of increaased expenses in 1973.

The Legislature also authorized the county to share in the payment of a heating syster connection in the Menttal Health Building in the amount of $7,263 with the City of Kingston paying a like amount.

Bank Gains Approval

RHINEBECK — Final site plan approval by the Rhinebeck Village Board has been granted Rhinebeck Savings Bank for its plans to expand the bank building and construct a small commercial center off East Market Street.

The bank plans to build the addition to the rear of the present building on Route 9, and also to construct a new building to the rear with four ground floor stores and four second-story offices.

The buildings to be torn down to make the room for construction include those from 23-35 East Market Street. Most are presently vacant.

Construction is expected to begin within a week, according to Donald S. Dapson, bank president. It is expected that 23 and 25 East Market will be removed, the bank construction completed, and then the remainder of the old buildings torn down.

According to Village Historian DeWitt Gurnell, the building at 23 East Market, formerly occupied by Helen Battistoni Insurance and The Dutchess Freeman offices, is the oldest commercial building still standing in the village.

Shanker to Teachers: 'We Have a Right'

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON

"We have a right to our share of the national product and we are not ashamed to say so," Albert Shanker told the Kingston Teachers' Federation Thursday night.

Shanker, president of the New York City United Federation of Teachers and executive vice president of the newly-merged New York State United Teachers, was the featured speaker as 200 KFT members gathered at Holiday Inn to mark the local group's 30th anniversary.

Shanker, who was jailed for 15 days in 1968 for violating a no-strike injunction, reviewed teacher union action in New York City that he said has influenced teacher groups throughout the country to work harder for their collective rights.

"The problems we faced 30 years ago are still being faced where there is no collective bargaining today," he said. "People meeting secretly, afraid of the school board. We expected retaliation from our employers but the greatest punishment was from our fellow teachers who feared retaliation or who felt that collective bargaining was unprofessional."

Saying that bargaining with school boards is "not a rational process, "Shanker cited pay scales that give a New York City teacher with a master's degree a top pay of $19,000 and said that school secretary pay was higher than that of 85 per cent of secondary teachers and 20 per cent of college teachers in the country.

"How did we get this?" he asked. "Not through rational discussion. There can be no rational discussion when the other side at a negotiating session can simply say 'no.'"

Shanker called the voucher system of education, which gives parents flat sums they can spend in schools of their choosing, a threat to teachers.

He said vouchers were being pushed by a massive coalition that includes "Catholic parents seeking funds for parochial schools, southerners who feel that they have the answer to school integration, northern black separatists who think black children can only get a good education in schools run by blacks, private companies that want to get into education, and conservative economists who feel that teacher salaries are too high."

Other potential threats to teachers cited by Shanker included:

● Teacher groups that settle contracts for no gain. "If you settle for nothing this year, what do you think the board will offer next year?"

● Performance contracts under which school boards hire private companies to furnish teaching services. 'It's the equivalent of a corporation closing down in New York and moving to Texas to get cheap Mexican labor."

● Snobbery on the part of teachers who don't want to be associated with other union workers.

Shanker presented plaques to eight charter members of the local teacher group, including Harold Bunting, Leo Doheny, Marion Kershaw, Boyd Miller, Winifred O'Neil, Thomas Partlan, Harry Streifer and George Whitford.

Bunting, Kershaw and Streifer also received gavels honoring their terms as past presidents, along with Sally Gallagher, Ray Gilkey, Sadie Lutzin, Richard Mason, William Scafidi, John Fallon, Harry Andehs, Richard Cowin, Thomas Mannix, Don Sweeney, Howard Rust, Vernon Outwater, Al Aspromonte, Richard Davis, Vincent Cioni, Barabar Kleckner, current KTF president, who introduced Shanker and Robert Tucker, who served as toastmaster.

OK Ulster Curfew

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Ulster Town Board has received state approval of its recently enacted curfew law, which becomes effective immediately.

The curfew, nearly identical to one recently enacted by the Town of Esopus, requires all persons under 18 to be off the streets by 10 p.m. unless returning home by a direct route from gainful employment or a school-sponsored function.

Town Clerk Robert Morehouse said at Thursday night's town board meeting that approval had been received earlier in the day from the office of the Secretary of State in Albany. The full text of the ordinance will be published in the Freeman in the near future to enable town residents to become familiar with its provisions, he said.

The board will seek to determine from the Ulster County Superintendent of Highways if the old road from Route 32 into East Kingston can be turned over to the town. The road was abandoned by the county when a new route was constructed into East Kingston. A group of residents along the old road has petitioned the town to take it over and turn it over to homeowners, a move that would enable them to extend their property lines to the center line of the old highway.

The board voted to turn over to the Department of Transportation office in Poughkeepsie a request by residents of the area for installation of a traffic light at Route 28 and Forest Drive, and took under advisement a request for a street light at the intersection of old Route 32 and the East Chester Street bypass.

'Open Education' Will Be Topic at Upcoming AAUW Meeting

Professor Margaret Casson, associate professor at State University College in New Paltz, will speak at the Tuesday Oct. 16 meeting of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women. Her topic will be "Open Education in England."

Mrs. James Babb, president of AAUW, will conduct the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the Bonanza Branch of the Heritage Savings Bank, Ulster Avenue Mall, Route 9W North, Kingston.

Professor Casson who is affiliated with the Campus School at the college, will present a discussion about the English people and Open Education through the use of slides dealing with actual classroom operations. Professor Casson works primarily with children from grades kindergarten through fourth. She is currently a supervisor of workshop programs in open education at the college. After Thanksgiving, Professor Casson plans to accompany a group of educators to England.

The meeting promises to be an educational experience.

The annual Neighborhood Meeting of the American Association of University Women was held recently at the Locust Tree Country Club, in New Paltz. AAUW branches attending were: Kingston, New Paltz, and Poughkeepsie. Members from the Kingston AAUW were Mrs. Walter Broughton, Mrs. Lawrence Bruck, Mrs. Clifton Hyman, Mrs. Anthony E. Manley, Mrs. Thomas Sherk, and Mrs. David Stott. Mrs. Bruce Dearing, state president of AAUW, presided. Discussion took place concerning various branch problems. Items relating to PREP (Prison Rehabilitation and Education Reform) were also reviewed.

This year's Freeman Tea was attended by Mrs. James Babb, Mrs. E.T. Vickers, and Mrs. Daniel Van Wagenen.

Speaker for the event was Mrs. Virginia Neher. Mrs. Neher works with the National Association for Literary Advancement. Her home is in Arizona where she is an AAUW member. She works with other AAUW members in teaching Spanish-speaking children the fundamentals of the written and spoken English language.

AAUW invites women who are graduates of an approved college to join with other women college graduates in a program devoted to education, wider opportunities for women, international understanding and cooperation.

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Branch of AAUW is held on the third Tuesday of each month. Further membership information is available from Mrs. Richard Muller, Niles Drive, Woodstock.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY — Here is a preview of some of the fashions from 150 years ago with the 1973 counterparts which will be presented Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at St. James United Methodist Church, Kingston. The show is being held in observance of the 150th anniversary of the Church. Linda Mahr, left, is modeling a wedding gown-traveling suit from 1870 Mrs. Richard Raible in a bathing suit, circa 1910; Mrs. Richard A. White in an 1890 beige silk taffeta gown. Representing modern counterparts from Britts are Cathryn Duncan, right, wearing today's "Layered look" suit; and Beth Duncan in pajamas and penoir with matching sleeping bag. The show is one of several events slated at the Church during October. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Percy Russell, 154 O'Neil Street, or at the door. Refreshments from Ye Olde Ice Cream Parlour will be served. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Megan Decker Exchanges Vows With Larry V. Joy

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Decker of Stone Ridge announce the marriage of their daughter, Megan Sue, to Larry Vincent Joy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Joy of 42 Millers Lane, Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly officiated at the ceremony at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. He was assisted by the Rev. Richard L. Brihn of the Community Church of High Falls. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a silk organza gown accented with imported lace and seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with an Empire waistline and an A-line skirt which terminated in a full chapel length train. A Camelot chapeau of lace and pearls held her imported, lace-edged, silk illusion mantilla which was chapel length. The bride carried a sweetheart cascade of white miniature carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. Patricia Joy of Kingston, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor in a gown of golden maize dotted sheer fashioned in the Empire style, accented with lace. She wore a cap of petals and leaves with a two-tiered veil to match her gown, and carried a colonial bouquet of apricot, yellow and white pompons.

Attendants were Mrs. Christine Griffin of Kingston and Miss Christine Consolo of Rensselaer. Their golden apricot gowns were fashioned similarly to the matron of honor's. They wore matching headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white pompons.

Terry E. Joy of Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Timothy C. Griffin of Kingston; Edward V. Joy Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, Menands; and Bruce E. Decker, brother of the bride, Stone Ridge.

A reception was given at the Alpine in Kingston.

The bride was graduated from Rondout Valley Central High School, class of 1971, and attended Ulster County Community College where she studied Liberal Arts. She is employed by Household Finance Corp. of Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, class of 1970, also attended UCCC, where he majored in Design Drafting. He is employed by Duplex Products Inc. of Kingston.

After a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Joy will reside at Fairmont Avenue, Kingston.

Woodstock Garden Club Honored for Yearbook

The Woodstock Garden Club was awarded another First. At the Fall Conference, Third District, of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., held October 4th at Bartke's in Ravena, the Club received District Citation, First Prize, Class III in the Program Yearbook Contest.

There are 70 Garden Clubs and 19 Junior Garden Clubs in the Third District in New York State, representing the counties of Albany, Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Rensselaer, Schenectady, Schoharie and Ulster. Within each County the clubs are divided according to the number of members in the Club, and Woodstock Class falls into Class III numerically.

The Citation was accepted by Mrs. M. Leslie Denning, president of the Club.

The Woodstock Garden Club also received the Blue Ribbon Award for winning the 1972 Yearbook First Prize for the Third District Class III on the State level. Mrs. Otto E. Marquardt, chairman of the 1972 yearbook committee, accepted this award.

Members of the Albany, Greene, Schoharie and Rensselaer Counties Garden Clubs were hostesses for this all-day Autumn Festival Conference with meetings in the forenoon, luncheon and an afternoon lecture program on Bonsai. Some 350 members from the 70 Clubs and 19 Junior Clubs were in attendance; 12 members were from the Woodstock Garden Club.

The October 3rd meeting of Woodstock Garden Club took place at the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock. Various reports were submitted. Mrs. Henry Rade, corresponding secretary, displayed the First Prize Citation for the 1972 Yearbook, awarded at the Fall Conference of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., in Cooperstown. Those who attended included Mrs. Denning, Mrs. Lamont Marvin, Mrs. Rade, and Mrs. Clyde Deavers. Mrs. Decker Bradshaw, chairman of the nominating committee, gave her report also.

After the meeting, Miss Marion Harding, president of the New Paltz Garden Club, gave an illustrated talk on Gardening for Survivial or World Gardening. The talk was open to the public and many persons took advantage of the opportunity to hear Miss Harding.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Michael Edwards, social chairman, and Mrs. John E. Koerner.

ELEANOR JEAN GOULD
(Glenndale Studio)

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Gould of Saugerties announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor Jean, to Neil Stewart Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Schneider, 8 Grandview Avenue, Kingston.

Miss Gould is a graduate of Locust Valley High School, Long Island, and is employed by New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, New Paltz.

Her fiance, a graduate of Kingston High School, and Programming System Institute of Newburgh, is employed by F. L. Russell Corporation, Saugerties.

An August 10, 1974 wedding is being planned.

'Pied Piper' at Newburgh

A lavishly staged production of "The Pied Piper" opens the children's season of the Mount Saint Mary College Cultural Centre, Newburgh, at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in Aquinas Theatre at the college.

Reservations for all Cultural Centre performances may be made by calling the Mount Saint Mary College Cultural Centre.

"The Pied Piper" will be performed by the Gingerbread Players and Jack, a professional childrens' theater company.

Set in Hamelin, Germany, in the year 1502, the play follows the folk tale of the pied piper, who rid a small German town of a plague of rats.

The production is highlighted by songs, dances, and elaborate stage sets.

Costumes and sets were designed to recreate the age of the German Renaissance.

Upcoming Cultural Centre children's productions include "The Proposition Circus" (December 1), "The Swiss Family Robinson" (February 2) and "Jack and the Beanstalk" (March 1).

The regular 1973-74 Cultural Centre season at Mount Saint Mary College features evening performances of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" (October 15), "Joffrey II Company" (November 28), The Vienna Johann Strauss Orchestra (December 13) and "Tartuffe" (April 7).

Speakers for Men's Night

CALVIN MARSH, left, baritone soloist, and Stuart Sacks, concert pianist, will speak at the annual Men's Night Dinner sponsored by the Kingston-Rhinebeck Christian Business and Professional Women's Council.

The Kingston-Rhinebeck Christian Business and Professional Women's Council will hold its annual Men's Night Dinner on Tuesday, Oct. 16, from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m. at the Beekman Arms Hotel in Rhinebeck. The special feature for this month's dinner will be "What the Well-Dressed All-Star Wears." Speakers will be Calvin Marsh, baritone soloist, and Stuart Sacks, concert pianist.

For 12 years, Calvin Marsh was one of the outstanding soloists at the New York Metropolitan Opera. In 1966-67, he became an international star with exciting debuts at Munich's Bavarian State Opera, at England's Gyndeborne Festival Opera, Mexico's Opera de Belles Artes, and Switzerland's Grand Theatre de Geneve.

Stuart Sacks is an accomplished pianist, composer and conductor. His musical career began at the age of five when he gave his first piano recital. After his graduation from Boston University, he was employed by CBS Television, New York City. In 1965, the network devoted a special program to the performance of his compositions of sacred music.

The public is welcome to attend. Reservations may be made through October 15 with Mrs. Bonnie Jack of Rhinebeck or Mrs. Linda Duspivia of Kingston.

Rebekah Installation Set

New officers of Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge No. 34 will be installed Tuesday, Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. in Odd Fellow Temple, Saugerties. Officers are requested to wear long white gowns.

Members are requested to bring a covered dish to the meeting. Anyone having flowers to donate is asked to send them to the Lodge hall on the morning of October 16.

At a recent meeting, Noble Grand Josie Dederick read several installation invitations including Agapae Lodge; Echo Dell of Hunter; Vineyard of Highland; and Felix of West Coxsackie, October 24. Installation of officers and the homecoming of Mildred McGloughlin, district deputy president of Olive, is slated for October 24.

Several committees were appointed: Marie Gundersen, chairman, Theresa Taylor, Anna Minkler, Judith Martin, Josie Dederick, refreshments; Judith Martin, Florence Tompkins, gifts; Marie Gundersen, Mary Hommell, vice grand and noble grand, visiting.

Letters were read from Leona Moore, past president of the International Association of Rebekah Assemblies, and Jennie Sue Pearson, president of International Association of Rebekah Assemblies.

All members are urged to attend the installation. All Rebekahs are invited.

Cleaning Woman Tops, Also Light-Fingered

By ABGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: For the last year I have employed an excellent cleaning woman who has also done my laundry. She is immaculate, quiet, and hasn't missed a day's work. She is the sole support of several fatherless children, so I have been extremely generous in giving her left-over food and even collecting children's clothing from my friends for her youngsters.

From time to time I've missed a few items. Panties, hosiery, towels. Nothing very valuable.

Suddenly she shows up wearing a pair of silver hoop earrings which looked familiar. I went to my drawer, and sure enough, mine were missing!

I asked her where she got the earrings, and she said she couldn't remember. Abby, I know they are mine! Now I am wondering if I should ask her to give me my house key and tell her why I don't want her to work for me any more.

I feel so guilty considering such a thing because I know how much she needs the money. So what should I do?

WONDERNG

DEAR WONDERING: The woman is apparently simple-minded or she never would have worn in your presence the earrings she stole from you. Tell her you know she has been stealing, but if she returns the stolen items and promises not to take anything else, you will give her another chance. If she accepts those terms, keep her. And if she steals again, send her on her way.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister lost a full-term baby. He was born dead. We sent a sympathy card addressed to her and her husband. They were offended.

My father in law told me you shouldn't send sympathy cards in a case like this. Tell me, Abby, were my husband and I right or wrong?

UNIONTOWN, PA.

DEAR UNIONTOWN: You were right.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: When our children misbehave, which isn't very often, my husband spanks them severely. And mean he really lays a heavy hand to them.

Worse yet, for a long time afterwards he keeps threatening to give them the same treatment if they don't behave themselves. This causes the children to feel nervous and frightened most of the time, which makes them resent him. I've noticed the resentment growing lately.

Abby, how can I let him know that the spanking alone is sufficient punishment and his constant threats are neither wise nor necessary?

And how do you like this kind of behavior from a man who has two college degrees and a father who used to beat him up?

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF

DEAR HISTORY: History need not repeat itself. Tell Father that his punishment is cruel and excessive and it's damaging the relationship between him and his children, so to cut it out. And it might not hurt to have your husband examined physically and mentally. Two college degrees don't give one immunity from illness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OLD-TIMER IN PALM BEACH: Before you put down the youth of today, read this: "Our youth now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for their elders, and love chatter in places of exercise. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up their food, and tyrannize their teachers."

(Socrates wrote that in the 5th Century, B.C.)

Red Hook Supervisor Explains Budget

RED HOOK

The total Town of Red Hook budget for 1974 will be larger than the present one, but Supervisor Robert Bowman stated this weeek that taxes should not go up.

The larger budget can be traced to the amount of federal revenue sharing monies appropriated the village. The amount to be raised by local taxation, however, is now scheduled to be only some $200 greater than the 1973 amount.

Bowman noted at the Town Board meeting that the budget will be released for taxpayer perusal after an Oct. 15 final drafting by the board. The amount to be raised by local taxes being asked for at this point is $128,130. A public hearing on the budget will be held in the Red Hook Grange Hall Nov. 8.

Town attorney Phillip O'Brien has promised customers of Annandandale Water Works that he will represent them at a Water Resources Commission hearing.

The America the Beautiful Fund of New York has announced plans for financial support of restoration of the Old Stone Church, located on Route 9 between the Villages of Red Hook and Rhinebeck.

The Fund, in a letter addressed to Bowman, stated that it would be willing to help the community develop plans for restoration of the historic Lutheran Church in what is now called Old Rhinebeck. And some financial aid may be forthcoming if and when the two towns reach that stage in planning.

The site has been set by Rhinebeck Historian DeWitt Gurnell as center for Bicentennial celebrations in the area for 1976.

Candidate Cites 'Home Rule'

RHINEBECK

A return to the "home rule" concept in government is the banner being waved by Leslie Close, Republican candidate for county representative from Rhinebeck.

The district, XXXI, is new and there is no incumbent. It contains most of the Town of Rhinebeck, excluding the village, and the Staatsburg portion of Hyde Park, with District 5 in Red Hook.

Close has stated that "the most important task facing our area is rededicating ourselves to the concept of 'home rule,' which acknowledges the right of the local citizenry to chart their own destiny.

"This right, whose roots reach back to colonial times, must be vigorously supported by all elected officials in order to prevent the subordination of this inherent right by powerful and well-organized political and economic forces not residing in our immediate area," he said.

Close, the son of former assemblyman and Sheriff C. Fred Close, has lived his entire life in Dutchess County. He attended Poughkeepsie schools and the University of Maryland.

He was a staff sergeant during World War II, having spent four years in the South Pacific. Close joined IBM in 1941, where he has held several management and administrative positions. He is chairman of the Town of Rhinebeck Environmental Conservation Commission.

The Republican is married to the former Jean Peck of Pine Plains. They have two children and two grandchildren.

Shandaken Phone Problems

PHOENICIA

Those long-distance headaches suffered by Town of Shandaken residents over the years weren't relieved to any great extent Wednesday night after telephone company officials addressed the Town Board.

Since phones were first installed in Shandaken, the people have had to tolerate two separate exchanges and long-distance prices on calls to Kingston. For the sake of both convenience and economy, they have sought to have the entire Shandaken area combined into one uniform exchange.

For example, there is one separate exchange for the Pine Hill area; Phoenicia, a few miles away, has a different exchange. Calls from both areas to Kingston are classified as long distance; in fact, a call from Pine Hill to the Shandaken constabulary in Phoenicia is also long distance.

George Hibner, district commercial manager from New York Telephone's Poughkeepsie office, and Marion Tongue, business manager of the Kingston office, traveled to Phoenicia Wednesday night to explain exactly what can be done to rectify the situation.

They explained that the two exchanges could be combined, but that the necessary switchover work would almost double the telephone rates for the people affected.

That's not a course likely to be approved by Shandaken residents. That dialing dilemma now appears solidly entrenched.

In other matters, the Town Board agreed to send letters to State Senator Edwyn Mason (R-Hobart) and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) requesting that they use their influence to persuade the New York State Department of Transportation to install lights on the Phoenicia Bridge. Supervisor Raymond Dunn said he's been trying for seven years to get the lights installed, to no avail. He pointed out that stanchions have been built on the bridge, but that the lights have never been added.

Nancy Darmstadt was reappointed to a one-year term on the Assessment Review Board and all the members of the Conservation Advisory Council were reappointed to one year terms.

Holtzman-Matlack in Series Opener

OAKLAND (UPI) —It will be lefty Ken Holtzman, a former National Leaguer, for the Oakland A's against southpaw Jon Matlack for the New York Mets Saturday in the opener of the 1973 World Series.

The Mets, in their own amazing way, wrapped up the N.L. pennant with a 7-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, and the A's, a team that rises to the occasion, closed out the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, behind Jim Hunter's five-hitter Thursday to win the American League flag.

Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder, right about the A's for the first time in three years, immediately pegged them as 6-5 favorites to win the first game of the Series and 13-10 to wrap up the Mets the way they did the Orioles.

While the Mets will have had two days off to reflect on their fine comeback before starting play in the World Series, the A's have only today. That's because the A.L. Championship series was extended a day by rain last Monday.

The Series this year will pit two of the finest pitching staffs in baseball. After Matlack, it will be Jerry Koosman in the second game Sunday for the Mets and Tom Seaver in the third game at New York next Tuesday. For the A's, it will be Vida Blue on Sunday and Hunter on Tuesday. With time off later, the same six more than likely will pitch the next three games as well, if the Series is extended.

Holtzman, traded to Oakland by the Chicago Cubs two seasons ago, said he never had much luck with the Mets and it pitching now against them may be difficult.

"I've forgotten their hitters," said Holtzman, a 21-game winner for the A's this year, "but we'll go over the scouting reports and I should have a pretty good fillin."

Matlack, rookie of the year in 1972, wasn't as effective overall this year but was overwhelming down the stretch as the Mets rallied from last to win the pennant the day after the regular season ended. He tagged on a playoff victory over the Reds, winning the second game of that series on a two-hitter.

A Mets-A's Series confrontation was the one most fans, especially in the Bay Area, were hoping for since the playoffs in the two leagues got under way a week ago. That's because local followers now can see Willie Mays under Series conditions in his final bow in baseball. Mays, of course, played more than 14 of his 22 big league seasons with the cross-bay San Francisco Giants.

Since the Mets train in Florida and the A's in Arizona, neither team knows much about the other. Thus, scouting reports will play a big part in the Series, especially in the first two games.

The Mets will hold a workout in the Coliseum today but all the A's will do is hold a team meeting and go over scouting reports.

"They deserve the day off," said an apprective manager Dick Williams. "We had our workout Thursday."

By that Williams was referring to the victory that clinched the A.L. flag and gave the A's a chance to be World Champions two years in a row. Last year they beat the Cincinnati Reds in seven games.

Hunter was a cool customer about the way he generally pitches, in beating the Orioles in the A.L. title clincher. He didn't permit a man past second and wrapped up the whole thing in two hours and 11 minutes.

"Nothing bothers that man," said Williams. "He's pitched and won a lot of big games for us."

Last year Hunter won two of Oakland's four games in the World Series and this year he won two of his team's three games in the A.L. Playoffs.

Thursday, Hunter was needle-perfect, getting the Orioles to hit his pitch either on the ground or in the air. He struck out only one batter, walked two and hit a man.

"Sometimes when I'm catching him," said Ray Fosse, "I just kind of watch in admiration."

While Hunter was near perfect, he needed help from old pros Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace, Vic Davalillo and Jesus Alou to gain the decision over young Doyle Alexander. The A's managed only seven hits, five off Alexander and two off Jim Palmer, who was coming back—and in relief—after being kayoed in the second inning Wednesday.

Rudi lined a single to left to score Fosse, who had reached on an error by Brooks Robinson and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Dick Green, in the third. As things turned out that was all the help Hunter needed but the A's treated him to two more runs in the fourth and chased Alexander in the process.

After two outs, Tenace singled to center, Davalillo ripped a line drive triple off the wall in right center and Alou followed with a single to center.

Hunter claimed he was nervous but you'd never know it watching him Thursday.

"I couldn't sleep the night before and I only rested for about six hours," he said. "As for the game, the only time I was nervous was in the late innings when we were at bat. I wanted us to hurry up and make three outs so I could get back on the mound and relax. Once you're throwing in a good groove, you want to hurry up and keep throwing."

One thing Hunter had Thursday was a good groove.

Now it's a day off and then the World Series, baseball's showcase event.

Sparky: Players Set Example

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) —The last thing in the world you'd ever call Sparky Anderson is a rabble-rouser.

Ordinarily, he's a placid, pleasant, peace loving individual. He wasn't though after Wednesday's pennant clincher by the Mets at Shea Stadium.

The fact that his ball club, the Cincinnati Reds, lost the ball game was one thing. Sparky Anderson has lost bigger things before, however, like a World Series. He's a man who knows how to win or lose with equal grace.

Losing Wednesday's ball game upset the Reds' manager. Upset isn't really the word. Tore him up inside is more like it, but there was something that worked on him even more.

The mad, maniacal behavior of the fans is what struck Sparky Anderson even deeper than the loss of the ball game, important as that was to him.

Sparky Anderson said some strong things about the fans in this city and nobody disagreed with him one bit. How could they?

I, myself, have been inside a mental institution and seen the inmates behave themselves better than some of the Shea Stadium patrons did following Wednesday's win by the Mets. Not only did they rip huge chunks from the field and the outfield walls, but they trampled anyone or anything in their path.

Sparky Anderson had some things to say about those fans and about the city of New York.

REPAIR WORK — Groundskeepers work on resodding sections of Shea Stadium Thursday in preparation for World Series games three, four, and five. The crew was working overtime to restore the torn-up turf and broken down fencing caused by a frenzied crowd celebrating the Mets' pennant-clinching win over the Reds. (UPI)

"New York ought to be the next Atomic Bomb testing ground," was one of the things he said.

"I'm ashamed I live in this country. I'm not too sure New York is in this country," was another of the things he said.

But then Sparky Anderson did some thinking. It is now more than 24 hours after the One Day War and the Reds' manager has come to another conclusion, a completely different conclusion.

"It isn't New York that's to blame, or the people of New York," says Sparky Anderson. "It's us. That's right. I'm talking about me, the players and everyone else who are supposed to set an example for the fans.

"Let me give you merely one illustration. I'm talking about the tradition of all this champagne after something like a pennant-clinching. The players are supposed to salute each other's performance, enjoy their victory and maybe take a couple of sips of champagne. But do they? Of course not. They throw it all around the clubhouse, douse everybody with it and what not. You see how they carry on, the wild way they act.

"My guys have done the same thing. Look, I did it. On the way back home to Cincinnati after Wednesday's spectacle. I did some thinking about the crowd at Shea Stadium. I wasn't so ready to blame them as I was originally. If the players do this, why not the fans? I did the same things. I'm no better than them. Here I am calling them animals and lunatics and I'm doing the same thing. You have to look at yourself and say am I any better than they are?"

This is the type man Sparky Anderson is.

"I'll tell you another thing," he says. "I would've done the same thing had we won. I mean with the champagne, and all that. I say I would've done it Wednesday, but no more. Now I can sit here and criticize the behavior of the fans when mine isn't any better."

Sparky Anderson may be stretching a point, but basically he's absolutely correct in his thinking.

It doesn't take that much to stir people's emotions and there is nothing more terrifying than a mob no longer under control.

When such a mob makes one man its prime target, the way they did with Pete Rose after he tangled with Bud Harrelson, the result sometimes can be sad, unbelievably so.

Maybe Johnny Bench was thinking about that in the ninth inning Wednesday, when with the Mets ahead, 7-2, and the crowd beginning to spill over onto the field, Pete Rose walked with one out to fill the bases.

Anderson was standing on the top step of the dugout when Bench came over to him and said, "Skip, do you think there's a chance we can get a runner for Pete? I'm afraid if we don't work him around, they're (the fans) gonna get him. I'm afraid for him."

"John, I understand," said Anderson. "Believe me, I understand, but I think we got a chance to win."

Sparky Anderson's job is managing the Red and no matter what the mood of the crowd was, he still had to concern himself with winning. That's his responsibility and if he simply waives it, he becomes derelict.

When the ball game was over and the crowd swallowed up the field, some of the Cincinnati players in the dugout didn't see Rose right away.

"Pete's out there!" . . . "Pete's out there!" a couple of them shouted in alarm.

"He's okay," reassured Scott Breeden, the Reds minor league pitching coach, who had entered the dugout shortly before. "He's already in."

The performance by Pete Rose throughout the five playoff games with the Mets was something to behold.

Quite simply, he showed himself to be the most electrifying player in the game today, and for my money, the best.

"I'm very proud to be his manager," says Sparky Anderson.

Pete Rose really did it all. He stirred up the Reds and the Mets.

The fans, too, and you see what happened there.

In the end, Pete Rose stirred them up so much, he had to run for his life.

Catfish Gets Game Three

OAKLAND (AP) — One of these years, the Oakland A's may enjoy the luxury of having Jim "Catfish" Hunter as their opening pitcher for the World Series.

But the mustachioed right-hander from North Carolina won't appear until game No. 3 against the New York Mets in this season's baseball classic. He was needed Thursday and ended another tough American League playoff by beating the Baltimore Orioles 3-0 on a five-hitter.

"He's one of the greatest athletes in America," A's owner Charles O. Finley said after Hunter took away the unpleasant possibility that thousands of Oakland World Series tickets and programs would go unused.

Hunter, a 21-game winner three straight seasons, proved again that he's best in the clutch.

He gave up 38 home runs in the regular season, but none in his two playoff victories. Orioles Manager Earl Weaver admitted Thursday, "We didn't even get a real hard hit."

As usual, the hitters knew exactly what Hunter would be throwing—fast balls over various parts of the plate.

Hunter struck out just one batter and walked two. Orioles hitters slammed their bats down throughout the game after hitting popups, including five caught in foul territory.

"I was making them hit my pitches. That's why they were popping up," the pitcher said.

Southpaw Ken Holtzman, who also won 21 games for Oakland this season, will open against the Mets here Saturday, and 20-game winner Vida Blue will start for the A's Sunday. Hunter will pitch next Tuesday night when the World Series moves to New York 's Shea Stadium.

Hunter, who got to bat only once this season because of the American League's designated hitter rule, is looking forward to batting in the World Series.

"The Mets' Tom Seaver had two doubles in the playoffs, I think," Hunter said. "I'd like to break that record in the World Series."

Hunter singled in his one plate appearance this year and batted .305 three years ago when American League pitchers were still included in batting orders.

Two Giants Among Mets

OAKLAND (UPI)—Bud Harrelson and Felix Millan, the little giants of the New York Mets, were among the most charged up of those intrepid believers who arrived Thursday night for their World Series date with the Oakland A's.

"I can remember 1969 like it was yesterday," said Harrelson, referring to the Met's Series triumph over the Baltimore Orioles four years ago. "If we play this Series like we played that one we'll be all right."

"The World Series is something I've dreamed about all my life," said Millan, a veteran of 11 years in the majors. "Now it's a dream come true. It has to be the highlight of this profession."

Harrelson and Millan, neither of whom weighs much more than 160 pounds, give the Mets a spectacular double play combination and also are surprisingly effective on offense. Both choke their bats almost halfway and try to punch the ball over the infield. They could prove more effective against Oakland pitchers Vida Blue, Jim Hunter and Ken Holtzman than some of the free-swingers.

The Mets left New York by charter flight Thursday night with slugging rightfielder Rusty Staub's status still in doubt. Staub, who homered three times in two of New York's victories, suffered a shoulder bruise when he ran into the wall making a spectacular catch in Tuesday's fourth game with the Cincinnati Reds and could hardly raise his arm over his head Thursday. Club officials, however, are taking an optimistic viewpoint and say he will see action in the Series.

Manager Yogi Berra pronounced his solid pitching is "ready" with Jon Matlack slated to go against Holtzman in Saturday's opener. Jerry Koosman scheduled for the second game Sunday against Blue and Tom Seaver set for the third game Tuesday in New York against Hunter.

TO TIGERTOWN — Ralph Houk (L) named manager of the Tigers Thursday, talks at a news conference as beaming Tiger General Manager Jim Campbell (R) and club owner John Fetzer (C) look on. Houk, the former manager of the Yankees, succeeds Billy Martin who was fired Sept. 2. (UPI)

Houk Has Some Ideas

DETROIT (UPI) — Ralph Houk of the Detroit Tigers is already thinking first-place thoughts, one of which would make Al Kaline his designated hitter.

Houk started thinking thoughts like that Thursday shortly after he was formally introduced to the Detroit press as the Tigers' new manager, replacing Billy Martin, who was fired.

He accepted the job two weeks after resigning a similar post with the New York Yankees, where he had two years to go on an estimated $75,000 annual contract. His new three-year contract makes Houk the highest paid manager in Detroit history, at least matching his previous salary.

"I like the batting power. That's what always worried me when we played Detroit," Houk, 54, said when he showed up two hours late at his own news conference following a series of flight delays.

"A fella like Al Kaline," he said, as though he'd already given the matter some thought, "A fella like that you've got to sit down and talk to, to find out how he feels we can get the most out of Al Kaline."

"Designated hitter, I would like to see that," Houk said. "Can you imagine if you had a healthy Al Kaline at bat all season?

"Take Mickey Mantle," he said. "If I could have used him as a designated hitter the last four or five years I had him, he might still be playing. By using Al Kaline as the designated hitter you'd be taking a lot of the risk of injury away. I think a manager ought to do anything he possibly could to keep Al Kaline healthy, but, this is all thought, I haven't talked to him at all yet."

Houk, who some believe is overtaking the Detroit club, did not seem of that much concern to Houk.

"They've still got power," he said. "They've still got veterans who know how to play, if we can plug a few holes ..."

Houk is a far different personality than Martin, the volatile and well-traveled man he succeeds, which is one of the reasons he was hired. Houk spent 35 years with the Yankees, 11 of them as their manager and two as general manager.

"I would hate to leave the American League," he said. "But the main reason I took the job was the organization itself. They are baseball people I understand and who understand me."

"Then the fans here are very enthusiastic and when you're in baseball that really intrigues you."

Kuhn Chooses Series Umps

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bowie Kuhn, baseball commissioner, announced Thursday that umpire Martin Springstead of the American League will be behind the plate when the World Series opens on Saturday.

Augie Donatelli of the National League will be at first base, Jerry Neudecker of the American League at second, Paul Pryor of the NL at third, Russ Goetz of the AL on the left field line and Harry Wendelstedt of the NL in right field.

The umpires will rotate positions for each game.

Official scorers will be Joe Heiling of the Houston Post, president of the Baseball Writers Association of America, Joe Durso of the N.Y. Times and Dick O'Connor of the Palo Alto Times.

Rams, Dolphins, Redskins, Steelers Sunday Pro Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Are the Los Angeles Rams for real?

As the National Football League goes into its fifth weekend, the Rams, in a renaissance under new Coach Chuck Knox, are one of the three teams still unbeaten and untied.

Los Angeles, with a new quarterback in John Hadl, a new coaching philosophy and a highly suspect—in preseason estimates—pass defense, had been relegated to the role of runnerup or lower in the reckoning of the National Football Conference West race.

Instead, the Rams are 4-0, have the best scoring offense in the NFC and one of the betetr defenses against scoring.

This Sunday the Rams play host to the Dallas Cowboys and face the severest test to date. The Cowboys will be attempting to rebound from their loss to Washington and stay alive to Washington and stay alive in the NFC. The oddsmakers called it a "pick-em" early in the week.

Before going on to this week's Fearless Football Forecast, let's pause—not for station identification—and report that last week's showing was much better: 10 correct, three wrong. That makes it 36-14-2 for four weeks and a .720 average.

Dallas (3-1) at Los Angeles (4-0)—The Cowboy defense played well enough to win at Washington, so said Coach Tom Landry. Expect the Cowboy defense to play equally as well, but the Rams should prevail. RAMS 16, COWBOYS 14.

Minnesota (4-0) at San Francisco (2-2)—The Vikings have proven that they are for REAL. Now Fran Tarkenton and company have a chance to show just how real they are. San Francisco counters with John Brodie, but that won't be sufficient. VIKINGS 28, 49ERS 20.

Oakland (2-2) at San Diego (1-3)—Oakland must win this one if they are to stay in the running in the American Conference West race. They shouldn't have many problems against the Chargers. RAIDERS 35, CHARGERS 21.

Pittsburgh (4-0) at Cincinnati (2-2)—The Pittsburgh offense, directed by Terry Bradshaw, is first in scoring among AFC teams. The Steeler defense is first in keeping the other team from scoring. Don't count on an upset by the injury-riddled Bengals this time. STEELERS 34, BENGALS 14.

Kansas City (3-1) at Green Bay (2-1-1)—The Kansas City Chiefs have lost to the Packers in the Super Bowl and two exhibition games. This is the first regular season clash between the two and Green Bay should win this one, too. PACKERS 21, CHIEFS 17.

Baltimore (1-3) at Buffalo (3)—If Buffalo wins this one, then the Bills will have won as many games as they did for all of 1972. O.J. Simpson might even get 200-plus yards against the rebuilding Colts' defense. BILLS 24, COLTS 16.

Washington (3-1) vs. New York Giants (1-2-1) at New Haven—The Giants have never beaten a George Allen-coached team. Now that the Redskins have their first showdown battle with the Cowboys under their belt, there's no reason Allen's string should be snapped. REDSKINS 27, GIANTS 20.

Philadelphia (0-3-1) at St. Louis (2-2)—St. Louis won the first meeting between these two NFC East teams 34-23. The Cards are playing a lot better ball than they were expected to. The Eagles are doing what they usually do best, lose. CARDINAL 31, EAGLES 18.

Detroit (1-2-1) at New Orleans (1-3)—New Saints' Coach John North was once an assistant at Detroit, which is really a non sequiter since the Lions have a new coaching staff and are a much better team that the record indicates. And two straight victories for New Orleans just isn't in the cards. LIONS 31, SAINTS 21.

Chicago (1-3) at Atlanta (1-3)—Atlanta beat New Orleans 62-7 and Chicago lost to New Orleans 21-16. Does that make the Falcons that much better than the Bears? Well, the oddsmakers say Atlanta by one point. What do they know about it? BEARS 24, FALCONS 15.

New York Jets (1-3) at New England (1-3)—The fifth straight road game for the Jets—and 12th in a row including the exhibition season—because of the baseball playoffs. The Jets have lost two quarterbacks and three games. Maybe they won't lose another quarterback this time out, but they should lose another game and Jim Plunkett will have a good day for the Patriots. PATROTS 27, JETS 10.

Denver (1-3) at Houston (0-4)—One of these days the winless Oilers won't be winless, but probably not Sunday. Denver quarterback Charley Johnson, whose hometown is Houston, needs 217 yards passing to reach the 20,000-yard plateau. He could get it in the Astrodome. BRONCOS 27, OILERS 18.

Miami (3-1) at Cleveland (3-1)—This marks the fourth appearance for each team in the Monday night game. The Dolphins have never lost in the Cosell-Meredith-Gifford Bowl. Cleveland has a 3-1 record. Bob Griese should keep Miami's Monday mark perfect. DOLPHINS 32, BROWNS 21.

JAC Tops Fallsburgh To Claim First Place

KINGSTON — The long anticipated battle between Ulster County Athletic League soccer powers, Fallsburgh High and Coleman High came off as expected here Thursday. And after four tough regulation periods and a pair of overtimes, it was the Statesmen who prevailed, scoring a 4-2 victory and thus claiming sole possession of first place in the newly-formed league.

Elsewhere, New Paltz won its third straight, 2-0, over Onteora, and Rondout Valley blanked Pine Bush, 2-0, for its first triumph of the year.

Coleman had to come from behind twice to tie Fallsburgh at the end of the regulation time. But in the overtime sessions it was all Statesmen as Glenn Link blasted shots into the Comet net two times, both after taking passes from Ron Weber.

Greg Davis had opened the scoring in the second period for Fallsburgh, but Coleman's Chris Bentley, with an assist from Vince Schell, tied it by halftime. Then Chuck Hinton made it 2-1 in favor of the visitors early in the third period, only to see Link score the first of his three goals before the quarter had ended. Weber assisted on the tying goal.

The fourth period was scoreless, setting the stage for Link's overtime heroics.

Bob McGuire and John Mc Ehenny scored for New Paltz as the Hugies topped Onteora and moved into a second place tie with Fallsburgh. The two teams meet Monday. Mark Robertson was the shutout goaltender.

Jay Schaeffer and Steve Priest did the scoring for Rondout Valley as it handed Pine Bush its fourth loss without a win. Ernie Cesana stopped seven shots in the Gander cage.

Johnson Rims 27 Points

KINGSTON — Rocky Johnson rimmed 27 points to pace Service Battery to a 65-52 win over Edgar's in the YMCA "A" basketball league. Bill Brady led Edgar's with 15.

Service Battery (65) — Alba 6, Johnson 27, McGowen 8, Basch 10, Dougherty 2, Washington 4, Toney 8.

Edgar's (52) — Renn 12, Brady 15, Donovan 3, Scott 4, Debrosky 4, Golgoski 2, Cirvelli 12.

GOAL — Jeannot Gilbert (17) of the Quebec Nordiques raises his arm in triumph after scoring on Toronto Toros' goalie Les Binkley (3) in WHA game at Toronto. Also seen is Toronto defenseman Brian Gibbons. (UPI)

Flyers Zip Leafs 3-0 In Hockey Inaugural

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Fans dubbed the National Hockey League season opener something more than just another game because it featured former teammates Bernie Parent and Doug Favell in opposite nets.

But when the ice cleared Thursday night, it was certain Parent won the "battle" as the Philadelphia Flyers handed the Toronto Maple Leafs a 2-0 loss on scores by Terry Crisp and Bill Barber.

The Flyers' first score came at 12:52 in the first period when Crisps' 25-foot shot flew knee high past Favell while Dave Schultz of the Flyers and Toronto's Borje Salming were sitting out five-minute fighting penalties.

Barber scored on a power play at 14:28 of the third period from near the left side of the blue line.

Toronto lost scoring opportunities in the third period when Philadelphia was shy two players because of penalties.

Favell, who played a key role in the Flyers' successful season last year, was traded to Toronto when the Flyers acquired Parent, who had jumped to the World Hockey Association Philadelphia Blazers in 1971.

Parent was in the net for the Flyers for the first time since Jan. 21, 1971, when he played against Boston.

Andre Lacroix couldn't ask for more.

He was given a golden opportunity to tie the game Thursday night when he was awarded a penalty shot with 1:37 left to play and the Chicago Cougars leading the New York Golden Blades, 4-3, in their World Hockey Association season opener.

But Lacroix blew the shot, sending it dribbling off to the left of goalie Cam Newton, and the Cougars held on to win and give new Coach Pat Stapleton a victory in his debut.

Chicago surged to a 4-1 lead behind goals by Brian Glenwright, Frank Ronchon, Joe Hardy and Jan Popiel before New York found the range in the final period as Kevin Morrison and Mike Laughton scored to make it 4-3.

Defenseman Darryl Maggs fell on the puck in the goal crease to set up the penalty shot but Lacroix couldn't convert it.

In the only other WHA game, early goals by Rejean Houle and Jean Gilbert carried the Quebec Nordiques to a 4-1 victory over the Toronto Toros. Wayne Carlton gave Toronto an early lead but Houle tied the score and Gilbert put Quebec ahead. Norm Descopeaux and Serge Bernier added goals to put the game out of reach.

Hawks Trounce LA, 129-102

ATLANTA (AP) — Defense was the word most often heard in the Atlanta dressing room after the Hawks convincingly throttled the Los Angeles Lakers 129-102 Thursday night.

Lou Hudson's 34 points, 10 of them consecutive in a third period onslaught, powered the unbeaten Hawks to their second straight National Basketball Association victory. It was the only NBA game scheduled Thursday night.

But the conversations always began and ended with that word—defense.

"Our defense went to work in the second half," said Hawks Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "We have a better concept of what's happening. We are helping each other out and talking to one another."

"We played good team defense and just kept running," said Hudson, who now has 75 points in two contests.

"It was a total team effort," said Pete Maravich, who chipped in with 26 points and eight assists. "Look at all the great teams of the past. New York, Boston, Los Angeles. They had great defense. That's what makes a winner."

And the new-look Hawks, who forced 36 Los Angeles turnovers, have had that defense two games into the season.

For a half it was a contest with the Hawks leading by only 60-55. But with the sniping defense, led by Hudson, Maravich and Herm Gilliam, coming up with loose balls, it was over midway in the third period.

The Hawks outscored the Lakers 38-25 in the period and coasted to victory, allowing but 48 points in the final 24 minutes.

For the Lakers, now 1-1, Gail Goodrich led the attack with 23 points while Jerry West, still not in shape after a prolonged holdout, added 19.

• • •

In the American Basketball Association, Ralph Simpson scored 34 points to lead the Denver Rockets to a 135-111 victory over Wilt Chamberlain's San Diego Conquistadores. In the other game, Carolina trounced Virginia, 133-96.

Junior Football In Final Weekend

KINGSTON — The final set of games is scheduled in the Exchange Club Junior Football League this weekend.

A doubleheader is scheduled with Titans meeting the Daturns this evening at Dietz Stadium, at 6 p. m. and Agenas going against Apollos at 7:15 p. m.

The Sunday finale at 12 noon brings together the Mercurys and Atlas.

Player Making His Move

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Gary Player, fit again after illness, is going after the world's top "sudden death" golf prize again.

The 36-year-old South African faced U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller in the semifinals of the Piccadilly World Match Play Tournament today. America's Tom Weiskopf, the defending champion, was paired against Graham Marsh of Australia in the other semifinal.

Player was in impressive form in the first round Thursday, cruising around Wentworth's "Burma Road" course to beat Tony Jacklin of Britain 3 and 2 over 36 holes.

Hoople Likes Kingston Big

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

KINGSTON

Egad, friends, this is no week for faint-hearted prognosticators as some of the season's best scholastic and collegiate gridiron games are on tap, kaff-kaff.

It's the mid-point of the high school pigskin calendar, a time of turning the corner for some, staying on the winning path for others, and, alas, staying on the defeat trail for still others.

I will not bore you with thrilling tales of my accuracy in recent weeks. Suffice it to say that my high school record stands at 18-8-1 (11-3 over the last two weeks), and that my collegiate computations are even better, har-rumph!

But enough of this idle chit-chat. It's time for this week's dazzling array of selections:

KINGSTON 24, ROOSEVELT 6

The Maroons get their offense in high gear at the expense of the lowly regarded Presidents. But nothing comes easy and this one will make that old Hoopleism come true. The teams will battle through a tense, mistake-filled first half. Then, KHS, awakened by its so-so effort, will put it all together and play its best ball of the season.

KETCHAM 12, SAUGERTIES 6

This one rates a toss-up. Give Ketcham the edge because of the home field advantage and the memory of last year's defeat handed the Indians by the Sawyers. An interception of a rare Saugerties pass will turn the tide in this one.

HIGHLAND 26, NEW PALTZ 12

Just when I was ready to write off New Paltz for the rest of the year, the Hugies went and beat Red Hook. But that only serves to make tough Highland more aware of its presence. Highland will come out strong and never be in any serious trouble.

RED HOOK 21, LIBERTY 0

Red Hook is better than its shown and Liberty is not. The Raiders will be seeing red, and not just because that's Liberty's school color. Matt King is due to let fly with a few touchdown passes and Liberty is just the team to let them fall complete.

ELLENVILLE 17, ONTEORA 7

The Ellies are rolling now. Again it's Onteora's misfortune to have to meet a hot team. I only hope those OCS boys can keep their spirits up until they play a team of their own calibre. Only overconfidence can hurt Ellenville here.

WALLKILL 12, RONDOUT 0

The Panthers bounce back. Felix Feleciano and Rich Earl make up for that bottled-up feeling they must have felt against Ellenville last week. Rondout's loss to Marlboro could be an inkling of things to come for the Ganders.

PINE BUSH 14, MARLBORO 13

Marlboro has rebounded but Pine Bush is flying following its one-sided win last week. The Dukes still aren't deep enough.

The big surprise in college football this week will be at Columbia, Missouri, where the Missouri Tigers will upset the Nebraska Cornhuskers, 25-20. Also, Pittsburgh will stop West Virginia, 21-18.

Remember, you read it first in the Hoople Forecast, har-rumph!

In other games, it will be LSU 20, Auburn 10; Yale 17, Brown 10; Cornell 32, Princeton 6; Dartmouth 16, Penn 12; Duke 28, Tulane 20; Alabama 26, Florida 10; Harvard 32, Columbia 11; Purdue 31, Illinois 21; Michigan 28, Michigan State 7.

Also, Navy 16, Syracuse 8; Penn State 47, Army 6; Notre Dame 35, Rice 12; USC 17, Washington State 10; UCLA 35, Stanford 28; Tennessee 27, Georgia Tech 6; Oklahoma 23, Texas 21; Ohio State 28, Wisconsin 17; Delaware 28, Conn. 21.

Trotters at UCCC

STONE RIDGE

The Harlem Globetrotters, the world's most famous independent basketball team, are coming to the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College.

The game will be sponsored by the College Alumni Association at the Senate Gym on Thursday, Oct. 25, for one game only starting at 7:30 p.m. In addition to their bag of basketball magic, the trotters are introducing family style entertainment for the half-time show, with an all-new, all-star, all-family variety show.

Globetrotters '74 will highlight the hilarious antics of all the Trotter favorites, including Clown Prince Geese Ausbie.

Also featured will be Globetrotter player - coach Marquis Haynes, former Loyola of Chicago star, Pablo Robertson; rebounding ace Jerry Venable and Mel Davis. Haynes is known as the World's Greatest Dribbler.

The Globetrotters now have performed their basketball magic in 94 different countries, playing before more than 70 million people.

The Trotters are coming off the best year in their history, with new attendance records established in nearly every city from New York to Oakland and from Minneapolis to Atlanta.

Rounding out the Globetrotter lineup for the Oct. 25 game will be Frank Streety, Dallas Thornton, John Smith and Theodis Lee.

Proceeds from the game will be used for future alumni activities, including the start of a scholarship fund, according to Keith Jordan, Alumni Association president.

Caputo Sparks Ulster Win

BEAR MOUNTAIN

Coach Jerry Moss credited Ulster County Community College's cross country win over Rockland a "super run" by Ed Caputo. The Senators defeated Rockland, 27-33, over the 4.3 Bear Mountain layout and it was Caputo's run that nailed down the first dual meet win of the season for Ulster.

"He gave us a super run, his best finish ever at Ulster," said Coach Moss. "He stayed 10 to 15 yards behind the leaders for the first two and one-half miles, then came on strong in the last mile to take fourth place by a comfortable margin."

Jerry Haslam of Rockland led the field in a brisk 24:41 clocking, only 69 seconds slower than the track record. But UCCC's two top runners — Gary Boice and Dennis Odell — performed as expected to grab second and third place. John Kapaskie and Ray Gonazalez placed sixth and seventh in their fastest times ever for Ulster.

Order of finish:

UCCC (27) — Rockland (33)

1.	J. Haslam (R)	24:41
2.	Gary Boice (U)	26:28
3.	Dennis Odell (U)	26:33
4.	Ed Caputo (U)	27:17
5.	R. Cetteti (R)	28:21
6.	John Kapeskie (U)	28:45
7.	Ray Gonzalez (U)	29:29
8.	Joe Schartz (R)	32:44
9.	G. Kastler (R)	35:39
10.	S. Schiebock	35:40

Marian Whittaker - 600

KINGSTON — Marian Whittaker, who is already a member of the 600 Hall of Fame, added another 600 to her list — right on the nose — with a high of 204 in the Central Rec Women's League. She posted a 613 in the 1972-73 season.

The current leader is Henrietta Wilson with 610.

Elsewhere in the Central Rec, Ora Boughton decked 489, Lois Hill 488, Mildred Scism 484, Janet Hines 467. Team highs of 642-1858 were posted by Rieker-Madden No. 1.

Shea to Pitt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers-New York Jets National Football League game scheduled to be played Oct. 21 at Shea Stadium in New York has been moved to Pittsburgh.

The switch, announced Wednesday, was the result of the New York Mets winning the National League baseball title and moving into the World Series. The Mets share Shea with the Jets.

Antique Show In Dutchess

STANFORDVILLE

"Acres of Antiques" are promised to the serious buyer and the browser alike Oct. 13 at the Stanfordville Recreation Park.

Located on Route 82 east of the Taconic Parkway, the large outdoor show in the Berkshire foothills is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine.

It is the 13th annual exhibit and sale conducted by the Stanford Lions Club, and proceeds go to that organization's Civic Projects Fund.

Five acres of display area will run the gamut in antiques and ten acres of free parking will be available. It is billed by the Lions Club as "The Big Dutchess County Antiques Show." Top dealers from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts will have antiques for sale.

The project was launched by the Stanford Lions Club 13 years ago as a modest flea market. Probably the most important factor in its growth has been an effort to select top dealers and enlist their interest in exhibiting their first class antiques.

The Recreation Park includes modern rest room facilities with handsome trees, as well as a carefully engineered swimming pool rather than the inevitable concrete pool. Refreshments will also be available.

School Taxes Due on Monday

KINGSTON

Taxpayers of the Kingston Consolidated School District are reminded that Monday, Oct. 15, is the final date for payment of the first installment of 1973-74 school tax without interest.

After Oct. 15 there will be an interest charge of two per cent until Nov. 15; after Nov. 15 the interest charge will be three per cent. The addition of this interest may not be waived for any reason.

The Collector's office is in the Administrative Center, 61 Crown Street, former School 7, and is open each day, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Payments may also be made by mail but must be postmarked on or before Oct. 15 to avoid payment of interest.

Hawk Watch Is Scheduled

NEW PALTZ

The second Hawk Watch of the fall season will be held by the John Burroughs Natural History Society Saturday, Oct. 13.

The all day event will start at 9 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m. at the high point of the Minnewaska Trail, Route 44-55. A nominal fee is required. Those attending will bring a lunch and wear rubber-soled shoes for the climb over flat rocks to the observation point.

Dr. Heinz Meng of New Paltz, expert in the field of birds of prey, will be leader for the watch.

The next Burroughs Society field trip will be a climb up Slide Mountain Oct. 21.

Speaker Slated

MOHONK LAKE

Hobart Van Deusen, naturalist, mammalogist and explorer, will be the final speaker of the series sponsored by the Mohonk Trust, in celebration of its tenth anniversary. His topic will be the Australian koala. The talk will take place in the Parlor of the Mountain House Saturday, Oct. 13 at 8:30 p.m. Area residents are cordially invited to attend. Admission is free for those eating a meal at the Mountain House; attendance at the program is $2.50 ($1.75 for children), including the drive in, and parking.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the Town of Kingston will receive sealed Bids on one (1) 1974 truck chassis, a 750 G.P.M. pump; 3 stage and 1,000 gallon booster tank, equipment and extras as per detailed specifications.

Copies of these detailed specifications are obtainable from George Leedecke, R.D. #2, Box 105, Kingston, 331-2651.

All Bidders must comply with New York State laws and any other laws applicable to competitive bidding in New York State at the time of the submission of bid.

All sealed bids must be so marked and will be returnable before 7:30 p.m., October 26, 1973, and publicly opened at the Sawkill Firehouse.

The Fire Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Signed:
Board of Fire Commissioners of the Town of Kingston
GEORGE LEEDECKE
Chairman

Dated: October 9, 1973

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that sealed proposals are sought and requested for the performances according to specifications of a contract to be let by the Town of Olive for a combined bid on the general construction of a new pavilion to be located at the Town Park in Shokan, Ulster County, New York.

Sealed proposals completed on forms herein shall be received by the Town of Olive on or before 5 p.m. o'clock on the evening of November 8, 1973 at the office of the Town Clerk, Route 213, Olivebridge, N.Y. and at 8:30 p.m. on that date will be opened and read aloud.

Instructions to Bidders, proposal forms, general conditions governing all contracts, drawings and specifications may be examined by bidders at the office of the Town Clerk. Copies of these documents may be obtained at this office upon cash or certified check in the amount of $15.00 for each set of documents.

As a guarantee of good faith each proposal must be accompanied by the deposit of a certified check, payable to the Town Clerk, Town of Olive, New York, or suitable bid bond in the sum amounting to 10% of the total amount of the bid. All deposits except that of the two lowest bidders will be returned within seven days after the opening of the bids.

The right is reserved to waive any formalities in or reject any or all bids.

No bidder may withdraw a bid within 30 days after actual date of the opening thereof.

Upon acceptance of any bid the successful Bidder shall execute a contract with the Town of Olive, State of New York. The deposit heretofore mentioned 10% of the bid shall be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages if the successful bidder neglects to or refuses to execute the contract and furnish said bond.

All bids must contain a clause complying with sections 103-A and 103-D of the general municipal law of the State of New York.

Upon award of contract any bid deposits then retained by the Town shall be returned to the bidder except that of the successful bidder which shall be retained by the Town until such time as the contractor has satisfactorily completed all work as set forth in contract documents.

HELEN E. CIARLETTO, HELEN G. CIARLETTO, JUNE C. TESAURO, and GENERAL ELECTRIC CREDIT CORPORATION, Defendants.

SUMMONS AND NOTICE
Index No. 73-570

To the above named defendants:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer, or if the complaint is not served with this summons, to serve a notice of appearance on the plaintiff's attorneys within thirty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18, 1973.

To the defendants Helen G. Ciarletto and June C. Tesauro.

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Honorable Edward S. Conway, a justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, signed the 17th day of September, 1973 at Kingston, New York, and filed on the 17th day of September, 1973, the complaint herein having been filed previously on the 28th day of March, 1973, in the office of the clerk of the County of Ulster at the county court house, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York.

The object of this action is to foreclose a mortgage upon the premises described below, executed to Newburgh Savings Bank by Helen E. Ciarletto, Helen G. Ciarletto and June C. Tesauro, for $14,000.00 with interest from October 30, 1963, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the clerk of the County of Ulster, State of New York, on the 21st day of November, 1963, in Liber No. 928 of Mortgages, page 1157.

The property in question is described as follows:

ALL that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the Town of Lloyd, County of Ulster and State of New York, known and designated as Lot No. 12, Block "B", on a certain map entitled "Circular Ridge, Property of Herbert W. Schrauer", Town of Lloyd, Ulster County, New York, made by Milton Chazen, dated March 6th, 1962 and filed in the Ulster County Clerk's Office as Map #2149 on July 20th, 1962.

SUBJECT to public utilities easements of record.

SUBJECT to Restrictions and Restrictive Covenants set forth and contained in a Declaration of Restrictions executed by Herbert W. Schrauer on July 23rd, 1962 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on August 9th, 1962 in Liber 1127 of Deeds at page 293.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, October 13

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day for Saturday pursuits of a detailed nature. You can get into whatever has to do with charm or health treatments, your financial structure and position. Do chores, then have a pleasant time at whatever hobby most interests you. Be very practical.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study budget well in a.m. and make payments, collections that are important. Discuss with experts how to progress faster. Evening can be happy with kin.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Improve health so you can do more in the future. Make a fine impression on others socially. Investigate new interest that could increase income.

GEMENI (May 21 to June 1) You can get into those confidential matters that will assist you to make important interests more successful. Evening is just fine for romance. Be kind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A friend really appreciates you and will introduce you to worthwhile persons who can be helpful. Join that group affair and dress well. Be a good conversationalist.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can make headway with bigwigs and those in high political office and can be very helpful within your community. Avoid one who eyes your assets.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get information you need by going to new sources. Travel is good for you now, even if only mentally. Avoid overeating or whatever lessens your efficiency.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Reach a better understanding with debtors and creditors and make life easier. A hunch gives you a chance to get ahead faster. Evening can be romantically happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Reach a better understanding for the future with an associate for success. Take care in public, or you could get into trouble. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have many tasks to handle, so get an early start. Plan some time for exercise or whatever will improve your health. Join a good pal for recreation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan 20) Relieve tensions by going out with good friends for a good time. Being more affectionate with mate brings greater harmony, happiness. Avoid one who likes to argue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use more modern methods to improve home considerably today. Get rid of whatever causes friction in that important realm. Take action on something vital.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Fine day for shopping, running errands and keeping appointments vital to your welfare. Handle correspondence wisely. Show partners you are pleased with the association. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those young people with a practical bent of mind and will gain the aid and approval early of bigwigs in business who will teach him or her the ropes and pave the way for big success. Give as fine an education as you can afford and teach to make decisions quickly. Give good spiritual training early and permit to get into sports in school. Don't try to push this child too far, or you ruin the life. Use tact.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The duplicate game was over and for once the unlucky expert had won. Even more remarkable was the fact that he had been playing with his wife.

"It was all due to the Jacoby transfer," he explained. "There were three hands where I opened no-trump and was able to play my wife's major suit, but the real clincher was board seven."

We looked at board seven. Four spades down one, played by either North or South, was the final contract at every table but the one where Mrs. Unlucky Expert had played and made three no-trump.

For once we were interested. "Please explain," we asked.

He was all too happy to oblige. "She opened one no-trump. We were playing Jacoby transfer and there was no way that I could get to play the hand in spades. She really mangles suit contracts and since four spades appeared to be a normal contract I decided to put her in an abnormal three no-trump. Maybe something good would happen to me for once."

It certainly did this time. In spite of the 6-4 spade fit there are exactly nine tricks for declarer at either spades or no-trump. We can't recommend our friend's bidding for everyday practice but it certainly worked this time.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SPANKING: (Comment) I'm 12 and a boy, and when I'm bad Mother takes me bare-bottom and spanks me. If it's with her hand it doesn't hurt. If it's with the hairbrush my bottom hurts for days. I remember it and am not bad again for a long time.

I'd rather be spanked hard and get it over with than have my allowance docked or be grounded. It works, because I don't need it very often.—Learning in Louisiana.

(A) A time will come soon when you will not want your mother to spank you. That is because no matter what it does to you physically it will hurt you mentally. You will be ashamed, and angry.

Before that time comes, adopt a system under which she won't have to spank you. Ask her to make out a list of rules for you to follow. Ask her to add or subtract from this list to cover new situations as you mature.

Then follow those rules. If you do, she will not have to spank you, or ground you, or dock your allowance.

DON AND MARTHA: (Q) Jim and I had a fight last night. He told me he still liked me but wanted to go out with Martha, too. That made me mad. I told him Don had been calling me. That was the truth, and it made Jim mad.

I told him to go out with Martha if he wanted to. He told me to go out with Don if I wanted to, and I said OK. I would. But all day today I have been crying. What can I do?—Injured Badly in Indiana.

(A) You wrote very quickly. By now Jim may have called and asked you to forgive him. Even if he has, you know that he wants to cool his friendship with you to some extent.

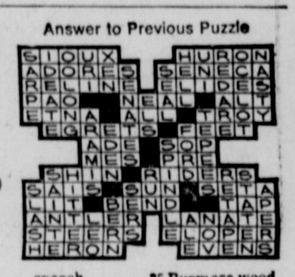

Do not try to stop him from dating Martha or some other girl. But at the same time go ahead and date Don or other boys you like.

This will give you and Jim a broader view. In the long run it may draw you closer together, or it may not. Whatever the result, it should be an improvement.

U.S. to Supply Israel With Ammunition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel's need for artillery shells and antitank ammunition will be met by the United States, but a decision was still being worked out today on sending planes and tanks.

The ammunition was being prepared for emergency transfer to Israel, according to Pentagon sources. Indications pointed to the shipments moving from remote bases in the United States, possibly on Israeli planes.

The situation involving new arms for Israel and other questions concerning the Middle East could be clarified today by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. He scheduled his first news conference since the war started last Saturday.

Discussions continued this morning at the White House, State Department and the Pentagon on the issue of providing major American arms to replace Israel's losses.

By late Thursday night, it was learned, the only action taken had been the drafting of contingency plans for transferring planes and tanks to Israel.

One such possibility involved moving U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom jets to Israel from American bases in Europe. These would be replaced by planes being produced in the United States.

While these contingency plans awaited a final decision, preparations were made to send Israel tons of ammunition as a "quick fix" after it was determined the first six days of fighting had reduced stockpiles to serious but not extremely dangerous levels.

Some officials said sending the shells now also was a response to the continuing shipment of Russian equipment to Egypt and Syria.

It was hoped Moscow would realize that while Washington stands by the Jewish state, the limiting of supplies to ammunition indicated the Nixon administration did not want to open an arms race in the area.

The Soviets, Pentagon sources said, had flown at least 80 AN-12 Cub transport planes to Syria carrying antiaircraft missiles, antitank rockets and other arms.

The shipments to Egypt were fewer, the sources say.

Several factors were weighed by American officials concerning the critical question of providing new planes and tanks to Israel.

It was learned that some State Department policy makers believe there is no need for any massive effort to replenish Israel.

These officials are said to believe that the military balance in the Middle East has not yet been upset.

United Nations in Mideast Power Split

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Diplomats said today a big-power split apparently blocked immediate Middle East action by the Security Council.

They said that despite an urgent appeal by U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim Thursday, the United States, the Soviet Union and China maintained conflicting policies toward Israel and the Arab countries.

The diplomats noted that the big powers could use their veto to prevent any action in the Security Council that did not agree with their stand.

The reluctance of the big powers was so great that none asked for a resumption of the stalled Middle East debate.

Council President Sir Laurence McIntyre of Australia finally acted on the request from Waldheim Thursday and convened the 15-member council for its third session since the war broke out. Delegates from Israel and the Arab countries simply reitereated their previous statements.

Waldheim appealed to the members of the Security Council to put aside their political differences in seeking a settlement.

He said Israel and the Arabs appeared "to be embarked on a war of attrition with the gravest consequences not only for the region itself, but for the world community as a whole."

Waldheim said he did not have a plan to settle the crisis, but that the warring countries should try to seize the chance to find a "real settlement."

"I therefore earnestly appeal to the conflicting governments to consider alternative courses before it is too late, so that fighting and bloodshed may cease," Waldheim said.

"I also hope that the members of the Security Council, as well as other member states, will redouble their efforts to seek an end to the fighting and an immediate and determined resumption of the quest for a just and lasting settlement in the Middle East."

Oil Negotiations Continue

VIENNA (UPI) — Negotiations on demands by Arab oil-producing states for a two-thirds increase in the cost of their product entered a second round today with Arab delegates insisting the Middle East war is no factor in the talks.

Officials from six oil-rich Persian Gulf states and Western oil companies gathered at the Vienna headquarters of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to resume discussions that broke off Tuesday.

Arab delegates said the Middle East hostilities have not intruded in the talks that began Monday, two days after the war broke out. They said both sides came here for negotiations on economic matters and nothing else.

There have been fears in Western quarters that the Arab countries will slap an embargo on their oil as a weapon against Israel and its supporters.

Iraq and Kuwait, both OPEC members, have already begun trying to pull together other Arab oil-producing countries to impose the embargo and that, coupled with price hikes, would deal a severe blow to Western countries already in the throes of an energy shortage.

The six gulf states—Abu Dhabi, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Qatar and Saudi Arabia—are demanding a revision of the 1971 Tehran Agreement to ensure that future oil price fixtures will be in line with world inflation.

Abderrahmen Khene, OPEC secretary general, said "the Middle East war has not been mentioned in the talks" and added they were held in a "frank and cordial" way.

Nixon Ready to Announce Mandatory Allocation Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is ready to announce a plan for mandatory allocation of home heating oil and jet aircraft fuel, but not gasoline, his energy advisor, John A. Love, told Congress Thursday.

Love failed to stop the House Rules Committee from approving a wide-ranging allocation bill, including auto fuel.

The President also announced an increase of $115 million in the current budget for energy research "for the early achievement of energy self-sufficiency" and named a 15-member advisory council. He promised to do anything else necessary to prevent widespread fuel shortages this winter.

The budget increase, to come mostly from funds already appropriated by Congress, will boost the program to nearly $1 billion, 37 per cent more than was spent during fiscal 1973.

The money will be used to study coal gasification, geothermal energy, environmental control technologies and energy conservation, a White House statement said.

"I am confident," said Nixon, "that with these initiatives we are well underway in our effort to meet our energy requirements with proper regard for preservation of our natural environment and for the early achievement of energy self-sufficiency . . . . I intend to take every step necessary to achieve that goal."

In a reference to Arab oil, Nixon said, "A great nation cannot be dependent upon other nations for resources essential to its own social and economic process."

Love testified against the House bill, saying the government was "not ready at this moment" to plan mandatory allocation of gasoline. He argued that the bill would upset the White House allocation plans and result in a delay in meeting shortages.

But most committee members said the administration had moved too slowly.

The committee, which decides what bills reach the floor, approved the measure, 11-3, after defeating a delay tactic, 8-7. Consideration by the House could come today.
